GOP Chiefs Seek To Restore Part Of Budget Cuts

WASHINGTON (AP)—House Republican leaders agreed today to try to restore to the 1958 defense appropriation bill about $300 million of the $2½ billion cut out by the Appropriations Committee.

The party's 30-member steering committee agreed to support amendments to spread the extra money through all three branches of the armed services.

The $300 million represents about one-fourth of the $1.2 billion which the President said ought to be put back in the bill in the interest of security.

Rep. Martin of Massachusetts,

Republican leader and chairman of the Policy Committee, said there was some sentiment for trying to restore more than $300 million and some for seeking to put back less than that amount.

The amendments will be offered when the House starts considering the defense bill.

The House today tackled details of the $33,541,225,000 measure—$2,586,775,000 less than President Eisenhower had asked.

Sentiment expressed during the first day of debate Friday had indicated the House would make few, if any, changes in the allotments recommended by its Appropriations Committee.

But Martin said he wanted the Policy Committee to know "the full extent of the damage" he said would be done by what he called "shocking" cuts in the budget.

HE SAID HE expected proposal of amendments on the House floor aimed at "restoring a good portion" of committee cuts.

House leaders hoped to end consideration of the bill late today, but were willing to let the deliberations carry into Tuesday.

Before the policy meeting was called, some Republicans had said Eisenhower's main hope of winning his fight for more defense funds lies in the Senate. They discounted chances of House action because of the impetus of a current House budget-cutting drive which already has trimmed more than $1½ billion from appropriation bills this year, exclusive of the defense measure.

But the Senate so far has held itself within the House totals on those bills it has handled.

Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas said he does not consider Eisenhower's request as "untouchable."

He did not say how much he favors for defense but commented that "no budget recommendation is sacred. Congress must still apply its judgment as to the size of the recommendations."

Deputy Secretary of Defense Donald A. Quarles said even the $1.3 billion of House committee cuts accepted by the Pentagon will "create problems in future years." Eisenhower had described that amount of the cut as a book-keeping move.

Quarles said that to stick to the other $1.2 billion of the cuts would be "positively unwise." That is the part Eisenhower had told his news conference would "cut directly into defense," especially buying of aircraft and guided missiles.

Convict Uses Ball To Send Message

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—An inmate at Eastern State Penitentiary used a rubber ball he threw over the wall to send a message to his 16-month-old son.

Marie Ann Mazur, 11, found the ball. She read a message lettered in ink on the pink sphere:

"Please, sir or miss, if this ball gets over the wall, will you please give this to my son Jeffrey Curry, address 1700 W. Master Sts. and ask for Louise? Thank you very much." On a separate part of the surface was printed the thoughts of a lonely man to his family: "With all my love and kisses."

The message came from Jeffrey Curry Sr., 21, serving a two-to-five-year sentence for burglary.

Teamster Cleanup Is Aided As Beck Says He Will Quit

WASHINGTON (AP)—Cleanup forces within the giant Teamsters Union have won a victory with Dave Beck's announcement he will not seek another term as its president.

Beck gave out word of his decision late Saturday, even as his opponents in the union leadership were setting in motion a drive aimed at forcing his ouster.

However, Beck, who has been charged by Senate rackets investigators with misusing more than $320,000 in teamster funds, attributed his decision largely to his wife's health. He said Mrs. Beck "has been very upset and her health has not been very good." He said he wanted to be home in Seattle "quite a bit more."

Chairman McClellan (D-Ark) of the Senate Rackets Investigating Committee hailed Beck's move as a "very progressive step toward the cleanup of conditions in the Teamsters Union." But McClellan said Beck should have quit outright.

BEFORE the rackets group, Beck refused to answer any ques-

Embezzlement Case Motion Called 'Scandalous' by Judge

Judge John P. Case Monday morning filed an entry in common Pleas Court striking from the files a motion filed Saturday by Mrs. Beverly Clickner Walls, challenging his authority to order a continuance of her trial from June 3.

In his entry, Judge Case said Mrs. Walls' motion was ordered stricken because "it is replete with impertinent and scandalous matter."

Judge Case also served notice in his entry that he is requesting the "earliest possible" hearing of the defendants' charges before Chief Justice Carl V. Weyand of the Ohio Supreme Court.

Mrs. Walls, under indictment for embezzlement of $9,700 from the Washington C. H. High School activities fund while a clerk in the principal's office in 1954 and 1955, has been represented by J. Harvey Crow, whose disbarment by a three-judge court two years ago, was upheld recently by the Court of Appeals.

In an entry and order filed May 20, Judge Case barred Crow from representing Mrs. Walls, or any other client, in his court and continued Mrs. Walls' trial, which was to have started June 3.

It was this entry that Mrs. Walls asked to have stricken from the files in her "motion" filed last Saturday.

The last of the 18 reasons given by her in that motion says she is "ready and willing to proceed to trial June 3, 1957."

IN HIS ENTRY of May 20, barring and continuing the trial of Mrs. Walls, Judge Case noted that an entry by the Court of Appeals affirming Crow's disbarment "can reasonably be expected before June 3," the date originally set for the trial of Mrs. Walls.

(The disbarment does not become effective until the Court of Appeals entry affirming it is filed with the clerk of courts here.) Crow has continued to practice law since his disbarment two years ago by the lower court under a stay of executive granted by the Court of Appeals.

Whether Crow will carry his disbarment to the Supreme Court is not known. Judge Case disqualified himself from sitting in the trial of Mrs. Walls because he was a member of the court that originally disbarred Crow.

IN HER motion asking that Judge Case's entry continuing her trial and barring Crow from practice in his court be stricken, Mrs. Walls challenges Judge Case's authority with 18 allegations, which Judge Case describes as "impertinent and scandalous."

Heading the list of allegations by Mrs. Walls was one in which she contends Judge Case "disqualified himself in this cause on March 4, 1957, and therefore could not make any valid order in this matter."

She also says she was never consulted about a continuance; that her attorney, J. Harvey Crow (now her employer), was never consulted; that she is entitled to have the trial as scheduled on June 3 or the indictment dismissed; that Judge Case "could have only one idea in mind... that was to attempt to completely control this defendant (Mrs. Walls) and to prevent this defendant from having a fair and impartial trial; that when her attorney requested May 20 as the trial date, Judge Case said the courtroom was not available when, as a matter of fact, the courtroom was available and 'Judge Case knew when he made the statement it was false and untrue; that many teachers will be leaving for summer vacations and his order (continuing the trial) 'was made for the purpose of hindering this cause; that Judge Case knew Mrs. Walls was secretary to Crow and that the order was made 'to injure my employer and this defendant as such employee; and that Judge Case is 'biased and prejudiced' against her; that Judge Case's friendly relationship with school officials would prevent an impartial trial with him on the bench.

JUDGE CASE, in his order to strike Mrs. Walls' "motion" from the Common Pleas Court served notice that he will request the "earliest possible" hearing before Chief Justice Weyand of the Ohio Supreme Court on the "impertinent and scandalous" charges made by Mrs. Walls.

He directed that a copy of his order be sent to the Court of Appeals, which affirmed Crow's disbarment, and to Prosecutor Rollo M. Marchant.

He also said he would call a meeting of the union's international executive board for about mid-June. Previously, Beck had insisted he would seek reelection.

It was not certain that when the board convenes it will be willing to allow him to finish out the remaining four months until the convention.

But he will be able to live comfortably. He will draw $50,000 a year in pensions the rest of his life.

Summerfield Threatens To Shut Postoffices

WASHINGTON (AP)—Postmaster General Summerfield says he may close "hundreds if not thousands" of smaller postoffices unless Congress gives his department an extra $140 million.

Summerfield already has told the lawmakers he probably will have to curtail postal service effective July 1 unless they approve a supplemental appropriation bill which he said will be submitted shortly.

Summerfield said a big increase in mail volume has boosted his department's operating deficit.

'Power of Underworld' Forces Delay in Trial

Uneasy Peace Covers Haiti

Idol of Workers Sworn In as Chief

PORT AU PRINCE (AP)—Crisis-ridden Haiti had a new provisional president today, but tension still gripped the capital. Armed police watched for any renewal of violence which killed or wounded scores over the weekend.

Daniel Fignole, 43-year-old mathematics professor and idol of Haiti's workers, was sworn in Sunday as some of the clashing elements temporarily set aside their differences in an attempt to avert all-out civil war.

One of Fignole's first acts was to accept the resignation of Brig. Gen. Leon Cantave, army chief who had tried to rule the restive Negro republic since last Tuesday. Col. Antonio Kebreau, commander of the Southern Military District, was named to Cantave's post.

Cantave and Haiti's police chief, Col. Pierre Lrmand, who had threatened civil war in a bid to take over the army command, both stood at Fignole's side as he took the oath.

About 10,000 workers and peasants, massed around the presidential palace, went wild with joy when the inauguration took place. Some rolled in the streets. Others fired shots in the air.

VIGILANTES armed with clubs and stones still ranged the streets, however, halting automobiles in search for arms.

About 200 Americans trapped in town by the latest crisis sought vainly to get out of Haiti. All airline service to and from the republic was still shut down.

It was impossible to establish just how many were killed or injured over the weekend, when mobs ranged the streets storming the homes of presidential candidates and hurling rocks at passersby.

After taking the oath, Fignole issued a proclamation promising quick "free and honest" elections. He assailed dictatorship and promised to restore law and order and preserve good relations with the United States.

At a news conference, he said he was forming a cabinet to work out means of re-establishing order and that every political candidate would have all rights protected in the election scheduled for June 16.

Observers believe Fignole would win hands down in any honest popular vote.

U. S. Citizens On Formosa Still Uneasy

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—Uneasiness persisted in Taipei's American colony today despite outward appearance of calm.

Normal life was shattered in the wake of Friday's anti-American riots. Many persons feared that only the continued presence of Nationalist troops prevented a fresh outbreak.

In addition to Taipei, four other Formosan cities where Americans live have now been put under martial law. They are Taichung, Tainan, Chiayi and the port city of Keelung.

President Chiang Kai-shek directed police to intensify a hunt for agitators the authorities blamed for stirring up Friday's violent demonstrations.

The mob outbreak was set off by Chinese resentment at a U. S. court-martial's acquittal of M. Sgt. Robert R. Reynolds, 42, of Colorado, Md., accused of voluntary manslaughter in the shooting of a Chinese laborer Reynolds said he caught peeping at his wife in her bath. The sergeant pleaded self-defense. He, his wife and 7-year-old daughter arrived in California Sunday by plane.

The U. S. Embassy pointed out that the mobs which wrecked its building and that of the U. S. Information Service and injured 13 Americans were not dispersed until late Friday after martial law had been imposed.

Ohio Weekend Mishaps Fatal to 18 Persons

COLUMBUS (AP)—Nineteen persons died accidentally in Ohio during the weekend, 15 of them in traffic accidents.

An Associated Press survey, which began Friday at 6 p. m. and ended Sunday midnight, showed that two persons drowned.

Thousands Fleeing New Texas Floods

DALLAS (AP)—Torrential downpours lashed parts of weather-beaten Texas Sunday and thousands of persons in Texas, Oklahoma and Arkansas fled overflowing rivers.

The entire population of Moffett, Okla., some 400 persons, was evacuated into adjacent Fort Smith, Ark., when a foot of water from the Arkansas River washed into the town. Moffett was unprotected by levees.

In Texas, the rampaging Trinity River surged three feet above the 38-foot major flood stage at Dallas, but began falling Sunday night. Police estimated some 2,500 persons were evacuated from low-lying areas. Another 4,000 persons evacuated flooded areas of Fort Worth over the weekend.

Some flood-weary residents in Dallas planned to move after seeing their homes inundated for the third time this spring.

"I'm moving out," said Mayce Ross, 34. "I haven't thought about where, but I'm getting tired of being flooded."

ROSS WAS ONE of hundreds of persons being cared for at disaster stations in Dallas.

In Oklahoma, the level of Lake Texoma neared the spillway stage at Denison Dam. Residents and industries downstream were evacuating in anticipation of an overflow of the spillway tonight. It would be the first time since the dam was built 13 years ago that water has overflowed.

The Arkansas River forced evacuation of nearly 200 families in North Little Rock, where hundreds have been cared for at disaster stations in Dallas.

$14 Million Spent For Milk for GIs

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department is spending nearly $14 million a year to make milk drinkers out of GIs.

The department has an agreement with the Army Quartermaster Corps under which it pays the bulk of the cost of milk supplied service men beyond regular military supplies.

The purpose of this agreement is to stimulate expanded use by servicemen and to help move surplus milk into consumption.

Last year, the department paid out $13,621,000 on 332 million pounds of fluid milk bought by the Quartermaster Corps beyond its regular Army ration. This is at the rate of about 2½ cents a pint.

Lad 3, Just Misses Flight on Airliner

OWENSBORO, Ky. (AP)—Three-year-old Stevie Bradford of Evansville, Ind., decided he liked the looks of the Eastern Airlines passenger plane at the airport.

So, while his father Richard Bradford was visiting friends at a nearby flying service, Stevie calmly boarded the plane.

The big craft had taxied down the runway before the stewardess noticed Stevie was unattached to parents or friends. She notified the pilot, and the plane did an about-face and returned Stevie.

Stassen Returns to London For Arms Talks with Soviet

LONDON (AP)—Harold E. Stassen arrived in London today with new American proposals for a disarmament plan with Soviet Russia.

President Eisenhower's special disarmament representative flew into London Airport only a few hours before the five-nation U. N. Disarmament subcommittee was to resume discussions told reporters he would negotiate "carefully and cautiously" with Soviet representatives at the London talks.

He said his general aim was to reverse the "competitive arms buildup" in the world. The American plan, he said, was aimed at "small, measured steps" of arms reduction instead of a sweeping agreement covering all weapons.

He cautioned against expecting fast results from the talks, pointing out that the problems involved are "too important and too complex" for quick decisions.

The American proposal reportedly contains the following points: 1. A multination treaty which dreds have been temporarily homeless for days. Thousands of acres of farm lands were under water.

Flood waters from heavy, incessant rains covered an estimated 100,000 acres in the flat, low-lying delta land between the Missouri and St. Francois rivers in the southeast corner of Missouri and the northeast corner of Arkansas.

Crop damage in the Missouri sector was estimated at $15 million. Most of the residents of Hornerville, Mo., were evacuated. Nearly 4 inches of rain fell in two hours Sunday night at Sonora, in far southwest Texas, an area still designated as a drought disaster region.

The U. S. Corps of Engineers said the Fort Worth flood had more than twice as much water as any flood in the city's history.

Assault Case Figures Freed

Charges Dismissed After Court Hearing

Charges filed against two Fayette County men held in connection with an alleged criminal assault on a bride of two months last May 18 were dismissed in Municipal Court Monday, and at the same time Police Chief D. Valden Long said that a physician's report indicated that another woman was not assaulted Friday night as she had claimed.

No charges had been filed in the latter case.

Released on a motion of their attorney after a 1½-hour hearing before Judge Max G. Dice were James Payton, Jr., of Jeffersonville, and Charles Tucker of Washington C. H. both 21.

MOST of the 90-minute session was taken up with the testimony of the 27-year-old alleged victim.

Her husband, the last witness before dismissal, said "It's my wish now to let them (Payton and Tucker) off, or to go easy with them. I hadn't heard some of this before."

The husband last Tuesday signed the affidavit for the arrest of the two men. He shook the hand of each one briefly as they passed out of the courtroom.

The woman admitted under questioning that she did not remember all of the details of what occurred a week ago Saturday in the hours leading up to the incident after she left Sons Grill in the company of the two men.

JUST A FEW minutes before this case was dismissed, Police Chief Long told reporters that a physician's report indicated that a 25-year-old Broadway woman was not assaulted Friday evening, as she had claimed.

The woman had told authorities she was assaulted twice by each of seven men in rural Fayette County between 8 and 10:30 p. m. Friday.

Trapped and killed in the car that burned were James Block, 27, Streator; his wife Vernie Mae, 24; and their children, Peggy, 4, Gloria, 3, Deborah, 2, and Jimmie, 3 months.

Occupants of the other car were: Dr. George C. von Steenberg, 37, a Bloomington, Ill., dentist; his wife Helen Nancy, 33; and their children, George Dennis, 11, Janice, 4, and Julie, 2.

Warmish Temperature, Little Rain Forecast

COLUMBUS (AP)—Warmish temperatures and little rain are expected in Ohio the next few days. Here is the extended five-day forecast:

"Temperatures will average near to 2 degrees above normal; normal high 75 north to 79 south; normal low 54-56. Little warmer Tuesday and Wednesday, cooler Thursday and warmer Friday and Saturday. Precipitation will average about 1-10 inch in showers about Thursday."

Key Witnesses Refuse To Talk

U. S. Shelves Action Against Johnny Dio

NEW YORK (AP)—The federal government today dropped immediate trial of its case against John (Johnny Dio) Dioguardi and three others in the acid-blinding of labor writer Victor Riesel because key witnesses refused to testify.

U. S. Atty. Paul W. Williams, in asking that the case be removed from the trial calendar in federal district court, said this "does not close the book." He said immediate trial "would be inviting an acquittal."

Williams told the court that the witnesses' refusal to talk "reflects the power of the underworld."

"May I say that it may be gangster ethics but it is not the kind of ethics the Department of Justice will tolerate," Williams told Judge William B. Herlands.

Dio sat in the courtroom, occasionally smiling slightly.

The two key witnesses, Gondolfo Miranti and Domenico Bando, previously convicted in one phase of the case, were given additional sentences for contempt in refusing to answer questions before a federal grand jury.

ONE OF THEM was quoted as saying that he would prefer a five-year prison sentence to speaking out in court.

"The government has now done all it can under the law to compel these witnesses to testify," Williams told the court.

"Without belaboring the point, I leave it to the court to suppose what forces have compelled us to follow this desperate course."

"I will continue to press vigorously my investigation of why these witnesses have refused to testify. Their actions reflect the power of the underworld."

11 Persons Die in Illinois Auto Mishap

BENSON, Ill. (AP)—Two cars carried four adults and seven children to their death Saturday and investigators studied the wreckage today to learn the cause of the fiery, high-speed crash.

Two families, one from Streator, Ill., the other from Bloomington, Ill., were wiped out in the deadly pileup on Illinois Highway 116, a mile west of here.

State police said evidence indicated both cars were traveling in the same easterly direction on the straight, two-lane paved highway. There were no survivors and no witnesses to the crash.

Investigators also considered the possibility that a third car may have been involved, forcing the cars off the highway in an attempt to pass.

One car slammed into a tree and burst into flames, trapping a couple and their four children inside. The other car careened into a pole, killing its occupants, a couple and their three children.

Trapped and killed in the car that burned were James Block, 27, Streator; his wife Vernie Mae, 24; and their children, Peggy, 4, Gloria, 3, Deborah, 2, and Jimmie, 3 months.

Occupants of the other car were: Dr. George C. von Steenberg, 37, a Bloomington, Ill., dentist; his wife Helen Nancy, 33; and their children, George Dennis, 11, Janice, 4, and Julie, 2.

German Chief, Dulles Parley

Adenauer Tells Soviet Compromise Possible

WASHINGTON (AP)—Chancellor Konrad Adenauer of West Germany began formal talks with Secretary of State Dulles today to follow up his conference Sunday with President Eisenhower.

The 81-year-old German leader scheduled morning and afternoon sessions with Dulles with every sign that world disarmament would figure as the main problem to be reviewed during his three-day stay.

Eisenhower and Dulles were known to be eager to assure Adenauer that his government's views would be fully taken into account in any East-West disarmament plan.

It seemed highly likely that Eisenhower would give Adenauer an advance look Sunday at the new arms reduction proposal which will be made to Russia in five-power talks reopening in London today.

Eisenhower and Adenauer opened their talks Sunday with an informal review of East-West problems at the President's Gettysburg farm.

Adenauer told the Soviet Union today his government would be willing to consider a demilitarized zone in central Europe if the Russians would agree to "reunification of Germany in freedom."

IN A 4,000-WORD message, Adenauer said he wanted to reassure the Russians his government is willing to accept any legitimate Soviet proposal that would guarantee a free, reunited Germany.

He made it clear that he was willing to make some concessions, saying:

"If the Soviet government seriously fears the revival of German 'militarism' it is free to demand, together with the reunification of Germany, effective guarantees of its Russia's security."

Adenauer again rejected the Soviet proposal that he negotiate German reunification with the Communist East German Government. The 17 million East Germans, Adenauer said, are not free to make any decisions for themselves. They are, he added, under "the domination of Communist functionaries."

U. S. Wheat Quota Is Nearly Filled

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States has virtually filled its wheat export quota for the current marketing year under terms of the international wheat agreement.

Sales for the year ending July 31, now total nearly 119 million bushels, or only nine million short of the quota. New quotas for member exporting nations will be set up for the coming marketing year.

The agreement is designed to help stabilize prices and supplies of what in world markets and to apportion the market among exporting nations.

Embezzlement Case Motion Called 'Scandalous' by Judge

Judge John P. Case Monday morning filed an entry in common Pleas Court striking from the files a motion filed Saturday by Mrs. Beverly Clickner Walls, challenging his authority to order a continuance of her trial from June 3.

In his entry, Judge Case said Mrs. Walls' motion was ordered struck because "it is replete with impertinent and scandalous matter."

Judge Case also served notice in his entry that he is requesting the "earliest possible" hearing of the defendants' charges before Chief Justice Carl V. Weyandt of the Ohio Supreme Court.

Mrs. Walls, under indictment for embezzlement of $9,700 from the Washington C. H. High School activities fund while a clerk in the principal's office in 1954 and 1955, has been represented by J. Harvey Crow, whose disbarment by a three-judge court two years ago, was upheld recently by the Court of Appeals.

In an entry and order filed May 20, Judge Case barred Crow from representing Mrs. Walls, or any other client, in his court and continued Mrs. Walls' trial, which was to have started June 3.

It was this entry that Mrs. Walls asked to have stricken from the files in her "motion" filed last Saturday.

The last of the 18 reasons given by her in that motion says she is "ready and willing to proceed to trial June 3, 1957."

IN HIS ENTRY of May 20, barring Crow and continuing the trial of Mrs. Walls, Judge Case noted that an entry by the Court of Appeals affirming Crow's disbarment "can reasonably be expected before June 3," the date originally set for the trial of Mrs. Walls.

(The disbarment does not become effective until the Court of Appeals entry affirming it is filed with the clerk of courts here.) Crow has continued to practice law since his disbarment two years ago by the lower court under a stay of executive granted by the Court of Appeals.

Whether Crow will carry his disbarment to the Supreme Court is not known.

Judge Case disqualified himself from sitting in the trial of Mrs. Walls because he was a member of the court that originally disbarred Crow.

IN HER motion asking that Judge Case's entry continuing her trial and barring Crow from practice in his court be stricken, Mrs. Walls challenges Judge Case's authority with 18 allegations, which Judge Case describes as "impertinent and scandalous."

Heading the list of allegations by Mrs. Walls was one in which she contends Judge Case "disqualified himself in this cause on March 4, 1957, and therefore could not make any valid order in this matter."

She also says she was never consulted about a continuance; that her attorney, J. Harvey Crow (now her employer), was never consulted; that she is entitled to have the trial as scheduled on June 3 or the indictment dismissed; that Judge Case "could have only one idea in mind... that was to attempt to completely control this defendant (Mrs. Walls) and to prevent this defendant from having a fair and impartial trial; that when her attorney requested May 20 as the trial date, Judge Case said the courtroom was not available when, as a matter of fact, the courtroom was available and 'Judge Case knew when he made the statement it was false and untrue; that many teachers will be leaving for summer vacations and his order (continuing the trial) 'was made for the purpose of hindering this cause; that Judge Case knew Mrs. Walls was secretary to Crow and that the order was made 'to injure my employer and this defendant as such employee; and that Judge Case is 'biased and prejudiced' against her; that Judge Case's friendly relationship with school officials would prevent an impartial trial with him on the bench.

JUDGE CASE, in his order to strike Mrs. Walls' "motion" from the Common Pleas Court served notice that he will request the "earliest possible" hearing before Chief Justice Weyandt of the Ohio Supreme Court on the "impertinent and scandalous" charges made by Mrs. Walls.

He directed that a copy of his order be sent to the Court of Appeals, which affirmed Crow's disbarment, and to Prosecutor Rollo M. Marchant.

He also said he would call a meeting of the union's international executive board for about mid-June. Previously, Beck had insisted he would seek reelection.

Teamster Cleanup Is Aided As Beck Says He Will Quit

WASHINGTON (AP)—Cleanup forces within the giant Teamsters Union have won a victory with Dave Beck's announcement he will not seek another term as its president.

Beck gave out word of his decision late Saturday, even as his opponents in the union leadership were setting in motion a drive aimed at forcing his ouster.

However, Beck, who has been charged by Senate racket investigators with misusing more than $320,000 in teamster funds, attributed his decision largely to his wife's health. He said Mrs. Beck "has been very upset and her health has not been very good." He said he wanted to be home in Seattle "quite a bit more."

Chairman McClellan (D-Ark) of the Senate Rackets Investigating Committee hailed Beck's move as a "very progressive step toward the cleanup of conditions in the Teamsters Union." But McClellan said Beck should have quit outright.

BEFORE THE racket group, Beck refused to answer any questions about his financial dealings. He invoked the Fifth Amendment more than 200 times, saying his answers might tend to incriminate him.

Beck is under federal indictment on charges he evaded some of his 1950 income taxes. The AFL-CIO has dropped him from two high posts with the labor federation on grounds he brought the labor movement into disrepute.

Through his secretary here, Beck announced he would not seek reelection when the Teamsters Union holds its next convention in Miami in September.

He also said he would call a meeting of the union's international executive board for about mid-June. Previously, Beck had insisted he would seek reelection.

It was not certain that when the board convenes it will be willing to allow him to finish out the remaining four months until the convention.

But he will be able to live comfortably. He will draw $50,000 a year in pensions the rest of his life.

Summerfield Threatens To Shut Postoffices

WASHINGTON (AP)—Postmaster General Summerfield says he may close "hundreds if not thousands" of smaller postoffices unless Congress gives his department an extra $140 million.

Summerfield already has told the lawmakers he probably will have to curtail postal service effective July 1 unless they approve a supplemental appropriation bill which he said will be submitted shortly.

Summerfield said a big increase in mail volume has boosted his department's operating deficit.

'Power of Underworld' Forces Delay in Trial

Uneasy Peace Covers Haiti

Idol of Workers Sworn In as Chief

PORT AU PRINCE (AP)—Crisis-ridden Haiti had a new provisional president today, but tension still gripped the capital. Armed police watched for any renewal of violence which killed or wounded scores over the weekend.

Daniel Fignole, 43-year-old mathematics professor and idol of Haiti's workers, was sworn in Sunday as some of the clashing elements temporarily set aside their differences in an attempt to avert all-out civil war.

One of Fignole's first acts was to accept the resignation of Brig. Gen. Leon Cantave, army chief who had tried to rule the restive Negro republic since last Tuesday. Col. Antonio Kerebau, commander of the Southern Military District, was named to Cantave's post.

Cantave and Haiti's police chief, Col. Pierre L'rand, who had threatened civil war in a bid to take over the army command, both stood at Fignole's side as he took the oath.

About 10,000 workers and peasants, massed around the presidential palace, went wild with joy when the inauguration took place. Some rolled in the streets. Others fired shots in the air.

VIGILANTES armed with clubs and stones still ranged the streets, however, halting automobiles in search for arms.

About 200 Americans trapped in town by the latest crisis sought vainly to get out of Haiti. All airline service to and from the republic was still shut down.

It was impossible to establish just how many were killed or injured over the weekend, when mobs ranged the streets storming the homes of presidential candidates and hurling rocks at passersby.

After taking the oath, Fignole issued a proclamation promising quick "free and honest" elections. He assailed dictatorships and promised to restore law and order and preserve good relations with the United States.

At a news conference, he said he was forming a cabinet to work out means of re-establishing order and that every political candidate would have all rights protected in the election scheduled for June 16. Observers believe Fignole would win hands down in any honest popular vote.

U. S. Citizens On Formosa Still Uneasy

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—Uneasiness persisted in Taipei's American colony today despite outward appearance of calm.

Normal life was shattered in the wake of Friday's anti-American riots. Many persons feared that only the continued presence of Nationalist troops prevented a fresh outbreak.

In addition to Taipei, four other Formosan cities where Americans live have now been put under martial law. They are Taichung, Tainan, Chiayi and the port city of Keelung.

President Chiang Kai-shek directed police to intensify a hunt for agitators the authorities blamed for stirring up Friday's violent demonstrations.

The mob outbreak was set off by Chinese resentment at a U. S. court-martial's acquittal of a U. S. Sgt. Robert R. Reynolds, 42, of Colorado, Md., accused of voluntary manslaughter in the shooting of a Chinese laborer Reynolds said he caught peeping at his wife in her bath. The sergeant pleaded self-defense. He, his wife and 7-year-old daughter arrived in California Sunday by plane.

The U. S. Embassy pointed out that the mobs which wrecked its building and that of the U. S. Information Service and injured 13 Americans were not dispersed until late Friday after martial law had been imposed.

Ohio Weekend Mishaps Fatal to 18 Persons

COLUMBUS (AP)—Nineteen persons died accidentally in Ohio during the weekend, 15 of them in traffic accidents.

An Associated Press survey, which began Friday at 6 p. m. and ended Sunday midnight, showed that two persons drowned.

Thousands Fleeing New Texas Floods

DALLAS (AP)—Torrential downpours lashed parts of weather-beaten Texas Sunday and thousands of persons in Texas, Oklahoma and Arkansas fled overflowing rivers.

The entire population of Moffett, Okla., some 400 persons, was evacuated into adjacent Fort Smith, Ark., when a foot of water from the Arkansas River washed into the town. Moffett was unprotected by levees.

In Texas, the rampaging Trinity River surged three feet above the 38-foot major flood stage at Dallas, but began falling Sunday night. Police estimated some 2,500 persons were evacuated from low-lying areas. Another 4,000 persons evacuated flooded areas of Fort Worth over the weekend.

Some flood-weary residents in Dallas planned to move after seeing their homes inundated for the third time this spring.

"I'm moving out," said Mayce Ross, 34. "I haven't thought about where, but I'm getting tired of being flooded."

ROSS WAS ONE of hundreds of persons being cared for at disaster stations in Dallas.

In Oklahoma, the level of Lake Texoma neared the spillway stage at Denison Dam. Residents and industries downstream were evacuating in anticipation of an overflow of the spillway tonight. It would be the first time since the dam was built 13 years ago that water has overflowed.

The Arkansas River forced evacuation of nearly 200 families in North Little Rock, where hundreds have been fleeing.

$14 Million Spent For Milk for GIs

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department is spending nearly $14 million a year to make milk drinkers out of GIs.

The department has an agreement with the Army Quartermaster Corps under which it pays the bulk of the cost of milk supplied service men beyond regular military supplies.

The purpose of this agreement is to stimulate expanded use by servicemen and to help move surplus milk into consumption.

Last year, the department paid out $13,621,000 on 332 million pounds of fluid milk bought by the Quartermaster Corps beyond its regular Army ration. This is at the rate of about 2½ cents a pint.

Lad 3, Just Misses Flight on Airliner

OWENSBORO, Ky. (AP)—Three-year-old Stevie Bradford of Evansville, Ind., decided he liked the looks of the Eastern Airlines passenger plane at the airport.

So, while his father Richard Bradford was visiting friends at a nearby flying service, Stevie calmly boarded the plane.

The big craft had taxied down the runway before the stewardess noticed Stevie was unattached to parents or friends. She notified the pilot, and the plane did an about-face and returned Stevie.

Stassen Returns to London For Arms Talks with Soviet

LONDON (AP)—Harold E. Stassen arrived in London today with new American proposals for a disarmament plan with Soviet Russia.

President Eisenhower's special disarmament representative flew into London Airport only a few hours before the five-nation U. N. Disarmament subcommittee was to resume discussions told reporters he would negotiate "carefully and cautiously" with Soviet representatives at the London talks.

He said his general aim was to reverse the "competitive arms buildup" in the world. The American plan, he said, was aimed at "small, measured steps" of arms reduction instead of a sweeping agreement covering all weapons.

He cautioned against expecting fast results from the talks, pointing out that the problems involved are "too important and too complex" for quick decisions.

The American proposal reportedly contains the following points: 1. A multination treaty which would bind nations who don't have nuclear weapons to abstain from manufacturing or acquiring them. This would leave only the United States, Britain and Russia with nuclear arms.

2. East-West agreement to cut military spending by 10 to 15 percent.

3. Reductions in defense manpower which would cut Soviet and American armed forces to 2½ million men each.

4. A small cut in the number of weapons, with each side agreeing to turn over specified totals of heavy artillery, guns, planes and guided missiles to an internationally controlled pool.

5. An East-West agreement to try out President Eisenhower's open skies plan for mutual aerial inspection over limited areas.

Russia's delegate to the disarmament talks, Deputy Foreign Minister Valerian Zorin, returned to London during the weekend. He also was believed to have brought new proposals from Moscow.

Charges filed against two Fayette County men held in connection with an alleged criminal assault on a bride of two months last May 18 were dismissed in Municipal Court Monday, and at the same time Police Chief D. Vaiden Long said that a physician's report indicated that another woman was not assaulted Friday night as she had claimed.

No charges had been filed in the latter case.

Released on a motion of their attorney after a 1½-hour hearing before Judge Max G. Dice were James Payton, Jr., of Jeffersonville, and Charles Tucker of Washington C. H. both 21.

MOST of the 90-minute session was taken up with the testimony of the 27-year-old alleged victim.

Her husband, the last witness before dismissal, said "It's my wish now to let them (Payton and Tucker) off, or to go easy with them. I hadn't heard some of this before."

The husband last Tuesday signed the affidavit for the arrest of the two men. He shook the hand of each one briefly as they passed out of the courtroom.

The woman admitted under questioning that she did not remember all of the details of what occurred a week ago Saturday in the hours leading up to the incident after she left Sons Grill in the company of the two men.

JUST A FEW minutes before this case was dismissed, Police Chief Long told reporters that a physician's report indicated that a 25-year-old Broadway woman was not assaulted Friday evening, as she had claimed.

The woman had told authorities she was assaulted twice by each of seven men in rural Fayette County between 8 and 10:30 p. m. Friday.

Key Witnesses Refuse To Talk

U. S. Shelves Action Against Johnny Dio

NEW YORK (AP)—The federal government today dropped immediate trial of its case against John (Johnny Dio) Dioguardi and three others in the acid-blinding of labor writer Victor Riesel because key witnesses refused to testify.

U. S. Atty. Paul W. Williams, in asking that the case be removed from the trial calendar in federal district court, said this "does not close the book." He said immediate trial "would be inviting an acquittal."

Williams told the court that the witnesses' refusal to talk "reflects the power of the underworld."

"May I say that it may be gangster ethics but it is not the kind of ethics the Department of Justice will tolerate," Williams told Judge William B. Herlands.

Dio sat in the courtroom, occasionally smiling slightly.

The two key witnesses, Gondolfo Miranti and Domenico Bando, previously convicted in one phase of the case, were given additional sentences for contempt in refusing to answer questions before a federal grand jury.

ONE OF THEM was quoted as saying that he would prefer a five-year prison sentence to speaking out in court.

"The government has now done all it can under the law to compel these witnesses to testify," Williams told the court.

"Without belaboring the point, I leave it to the court to suppose what forces have compelled us to follow this desperate course."

"I will continue to press vigorously my investigation of why these witnesses have refused to testify. Their actions reflect the power of the underworld."

11 Persons Die in Illinois Auto Mishap

BENSON, Ill. (AP)—Two cars carried four adults and seven children to their death Saturday and investigators studied the wreckage today to learn the cause of the fiery, high-speed crash.

Two families, one from Streator, Ill., the other from Bloomington, Ill., were wiped out in the deadly pileup on Illinois Highway 116, a mile west of here.

State police said evidence indicated both cars were traveling in the same easterly direction on the straight, two-lane paved highway. There were no survivors and no witnesses to the crash.

Investigators also considered the possibility that a third car may have been involved, forcing the cars off the highway in an attempt to pass.

One car slammed into a tree and burst into flames, trapping a couple and their four children inside. The other car careened into a pole, killing its occupants, a couple and their three children.

Trapped and killed in the car that burned were James Block, 27; Streator; his wife Vernie Mae, 24; and their children, Peggy, 4, Gloria, 3, Deborah, 2, and Jimmie, 3 months.

Occupants of the other car were: Dr. George C. von Steenberg, 57, a Bloomington, Ill., dentist; his wife Helen Nancy, 33; and their children, George Dennis, 11, Janice, 4, and Julie, 2.

Warmish Temperature, Little Rain Forecast

COLUMBUS (AP)—Warmish temperatures and little rain are expected in Ohio the next few days. Here is the extended five-day forecast: "Temperatures will average near to 2 degrees above normal; normal high 75 north to 79 south; normal low 54-56. Little warmer Tuesday and Wednesday, cooler Thursday and warmer Friday and Saturday. Precipitation will average about 1-10 inch in showers about Thursday."

Japan Gets Atom Fuel

TOKYO (AP)—Twenty-two pounds of enriched uranium nuclear fuel arrived in Japan today from the United States. Leased until 1960, it will be used for a water-boiler type research reactor.

Despite Slump, Steel Firms Meeting Changes in Market

CLEVELAND (P) — With steel production continuing to slump, the steel industry is showing a better ability than in the past to meet changing market conditions, says "Steel" Magazine.

The metalworking trade weekly said there was increased emphasis on production of heavy steel products during the first quarter, when demand for light products let up.

Light products still account for the major part of the industry's output but only 74.4 per cent of mill shipments the first quarter were light products—sheet, strip, tin plate, etc.—compared with 78.2 per cent the first quarter of 1956.

Output of heavy products, on the other hand, increased both percentage-wise and in tonnage over a year ago. The heavy products—structural steel and steel plates—accounted for 21.6 per cent of mill shipments in the first quarter this year, compared with 17.7 per cent a year ago.

The buyers of heavy structural shapes, who have been hard pressed since the end of World War II, took 16,677,696 tons in the first quarter, 1957, compared with 1,369,154 tons in the corresponding period of 1956.

"Steel" said the "incessant demand for heavy products from the construction and heavy durable goods industries" has resulted in an expansion of capacity for heavy structurals and plates.

Output of steel for ingots and castings was at 84 per cent of rated capacity last week, a yield of 2,149,972 net tons. This is 2.5 points below the preceding week's rate and 14.5 points under this year's high of 98.5 per cent in mid-January.

Sparks Blamed For Garage Fire

Sparks from burning rubbish caused a fire about 2:50 p. m. Saturday which scorched the roof of a garage used by Harold Brown on Hoppes Rd.

Total damage was only about $10, Kenneth Craig, owner of the garage, said Monday. Sparks fell on the cedar shingle roof, causing the fire which city firemen extinguished.

"Steel" said demand is "perking up," chiefly for cold-rolled and hot-rolled sheets, hot-rolled bars and merchant pipe.

Many consumers, said "Steel," must be near the point where they will have to stop "living off their inventories" and start buying again as much as they use.

Three Arrested Over 200 Legionnaires Here For Accidents On Saturday

Three arrests resulted from auto accidents in the city and county over the weekend.

Fined $5 and costs (fine suspended) for failure to yield the right of way, was Anna F. Walton, 61, of 815 E. Paint St., involved in an accident at the corner of Delaware and Rawlings St. about 10:30 p. m. Saturday.

Edgar H. Dobyns of Springfield forfeited $20 bond for failure to appear on a reckless driving charge, in connection with a one-car accident on Route 35, South about 5 p. m. Saturday.

Flossie McDonald, Springfield, was treated in the emergency room at Memorial Hospital for a twisted neck resulting from the same accident. A passenger in Dobyns' car, she was released after treatment.

Forfeiting $20 bond on another reckless driving charge was Doris A. Evans, 22, Columbus, who allegedly skidded off street and ran through front yards at 613 and 619 Clinton Ave. about midnight Saturday.

She was arrested about five miles out on the CCC Highway by Deputy Sheriff Donald Thompson. She said the auto's accelerator stuck.

12 Forfeit Bonds On Traffic Counts

Over 200 Legionnaires Here For Auxiliary Patrol Meeting

Approximately 225 members of the Auxiliary Ohio Highway Patrol, representing 30 counties, attended a regional meeting in the Washington C. H. High School auditorium from noon until 3 p. m. Sunday.

Robert Jefferson, captain of the Fayette County unit, welcomed the guests, at Major-at-Large Floyd R. Hartpence, Hillsboro, presided. The auxiliary is made up of members of the American Legion.

The purpose of the meeting was to give to the auxiliary patrolmen instructional lectures highlighting civil defense problems and to explain other facets of the auxiliary's service.

Thane M. Durey, director of Ohio Civil Defense, and Bruce P. Henderson, past chairman of the Legion National Security Commission, were the principal speakers. Durey spoke on "Survival Planning" and Henderson on "National Security."

Instruction session were conducted by Capt. D. W. Unkle on "Disaster Control" and Capt. J. L. Hand.

Despite Slump, Steel Firms Meeting Changes in Market

CLEVELAND (AP) — With steel production continuing to slump, the steel industry is showing a better ability than in the past to meet changing market conditions, says "Steel" Magazine.

The metalworking trade weekly said there was increased emphasis on production of heavy steel products during the first quarter, when demand for light products let up.

Light products still account for the major part of the industry's output but only 74.4 per cent of mill shipments the first quarter were light products—sheet, strip, tin plate, etc.—compared with 78.2 per cent the first quarter of 1956.

Output of heavy products, on the other hand, increased both percentage-wise and in tonnage over a year ago. The heavy products—structural steel and steel plates—accounted for 21.6 per cent of mill shipments in the first quarter this year, compared with 17.7 per cent a year ago.

The buyers of heavy structural shapes, who have been hard pressed since the end of World War II, took 16,677,696 tons in the first quarter, 1957, compared with 1,369,154 tons in the corresponding period of 1956.

"Steel" said the "incessant demand" for heavy products from the construction and heavy durable goods industries "has resulted in an expansion of capacity for heavy structurals and plates."

Output of steel for ingots and castings was at 84 per cent of rated capacity last week, a yield of 2,149,972 net tons. This is 2.5 points below the preceding week's rate and 14.5 points under this year's high of 98.5 per cent in mid-January.

Sparks Blamed For Garage Fire

Sparks from burning rubbish caused a fire about 2:50 p. m. Saturday which scorched the roof of a garage used by Harold Brown on Hoppes Rd.

Total damage was only about $10, Kenneth Craig, owner of the garage, said Monday. Sparks fell on the cedar shingle roof, causing the fire which city firemen extinguished.

Three Arrested For Accidents On Saturday

Three arrests resulted from auto accidents in the city and county over the weekend.

Fined $5 and costs (fine suspended) for failure to yield the right of way, was Anna F. Walton, 61, of 815 E. Paint St., involved in an accident at the corner of Delaware and Rawlings St. about 10:30 p. m. Saturday.

Edgar H. Dobyns of Springfield forfeited $20 bond for failure to appear on a reckless driving charge, in connection with a one-car accident on Route 35, South about 5 p. m. Saturday.

Flossie McDonald, Springfield, was treated in the emergency room at Memorial Hospital for a twisted neck resulting from the same accident. A passenger in Dobyns' car, she was released after treatment.

Forfeiting $20 bond on another reckless driving charge was Doris A. Evans, 22, Columbus, who allegedly skidded off street and ran through front yards at 613 and 619 Clinton Ave. about midnight Saturday.

She was arrested about five miles out on the CCC Highway by Deputy Sheriff Donald Thompson. She said the auto's accelerator stuck.

Over 200 Legionnaires Here For Auxiliary Patrol Meeting

Approximately 225 members of the Auxiliary Ohio Highway Patrol, representing 30 counties, attended a regional meeting in the Washington C. H. High School auditorium from noon until 3 p. m. Sunday.

Robert Jefferson, captain of the Fayette County unit, welcomed the guests, at Major-at-Large Floyd R. Hartpence, Hillsboro, presided. The auxiliary is made up of members of the American Legion.

The purpose of the meeting was to give to the auxiliary patrolmen instructional lectures highlighting civil defense problems and to explain other facets of the auxiliary's service.

Thane M. Durey, director of Ohio Civil Defense, and Bruce P. Henderson, past chairman of the Legion National Security Commission, were the principal speakers. Durey spoke on "Survival Planning" and Henderson on "National Security."

Instruction session were conducted by Capt. D. W. Unkle on "Disaster Control" and Capt. J. L. Hand.

What Our Population Trend Means Soon

Although we accept the situation in stride and do not notice it so much in a small county of the rural type such as Fayette, yet a look at our own population figures, especially in Washington C. H., will bring realization of growth and, to some extent, point out what is happening in the rest of the nation.

Local sources which have various means of estimating the population of this city place that figure at between 12,000 and 13,000. They say that the old 1950 federal census figures cannot possibly be considered as a basis for the present population which they claim has increased at a faster rate in the last five to seven years than ever before.

This would appear to be in line with what is happening in our country as a whole. The population of the United States is now declared to be exceeding the 170 million mark, over 19 million more inhabitants than were counted in the 1950 census.

The expert observers who deal with census figures at the present time declare that the three factors working to change the age distribution of our total national inhabitants, which is expected to reach more than 190 million by 1965 are, the low birthrate of the 1930's, the high birthrate of the last 10 years and the increased life expectancy of the adult population.

The changing age composition of the population has had, and will continue to have, a far reaching impact upon our national economy. For example it will influence the nation's labor force and the demand for goods and services.

The nation's labor force is growing at a slower rate than the total population. This is largely a result of the low birth rate of the 1930's, which will be reflected during the next nine years by an actual decrease in the number of adults between 25 and 44 years of age. Between now and 1965, all of the growth in the adult population of working age will occur in the age groups between 45 and 64 years.

The reduced supply of younger people available for work between now and 1965 means that employers will have to hire more women than ever before in order to keep up with the country's expanding economy. From 1956 to 1965, close to 9 million workers are expected to be added to the labor force and about half of these are expected to be women. By 1965, one out of every three workers will be a woman as compared with about one out of every four workers at the beginning of the post-war period.

The relatively smaller labor force will be supporting a relatively larger number of nonworkers. In 1945, for every 100 persons in the country's labor force there were 114 nonworkers. By 1965, the population projections suggest that there will be 144 nonworkers for every 100 workers.

Developing the initiative, resourcefulness and versatility of the smaller numbers of young workers, which as a group represent the depression babies of the 1930's, would appear particularly important, for they are the only group in our population which is not growing in size. In this connection, it should be remembered that the younger workers of today will be the foremen, managers and board chairmen of the not too distant future.

It should also be noted any sharp reduction in the length of the manufacturing work week, for which so many are now contending, would require an equally sharp improvement in productivity merely to maintain the current standard of living.

It would appear open to question whether a substantial reduction in the work week could be made if the standard of living is to be increased appreciably, considering the smaller proportion of the population expected to be participating in the labor force over the foreseeable future.

All this would seem to mean that instead of our having less work and less problems a decade from now, we are likely to be "up to our ears" in finding ways to keep the procession moving forward.

Collegiate Saturnalia Returns.

NEW YORK (AP)—Here we are in the silly season, with the youth of the nation erupting in seemingly senseless panty raids, brawls and co-fighting.

Last week for example, several hundred male Columbia University students marched on a dormitory housing students of Barnard, its women's college, shouting "panty raid," but retreated before a platoon of police squad cars. Two hundred boys at Southern Methodist University, near Dallas, milled and chanted around seven sorority houses.

"Senseless?" asked psychiatrist Marynia Farnham. "Sure, it's senseless. But here it is. The saturnalia. It's as old as mankind and all societies have recognized that this will happen when there comes a release from tension, when the sun comes back."

Peoples through history, Dr. Farnham continued, have coped with the annual end-of-winter explosion by turning springtime into formal periods of feast, celebration and ritual. The word saturnalia, meaning a period of occasion of general license, comes from the ancient Roman Feast of Saturn, a sort of carnival.

Spring seems to hit the college crowd hardest — naturally, says Dr. Farnham. Every year from Connecticut to California there are spring-time rampages among students which frequently require police action. There are general melees, outside pranks, firecracker, rock and egg-tossing. There are real and threatened panty raids, during which coeds usually stay inside and bolt the doors.

At Barnard, last week, the locked-in girls participated to the extent of jeering at the milling mob below, tossing some undergarments to the lads and later tossing water-filled paper bags at the police who were trying to control the high spirits.

The Dallas coeds, however, were unseasonably chilly to the raiders. Last year they not only donated undergarments, but some enthusiastic lassies unlocked the sorority doors.

"Usually," said Dr. Farnham, "the girls get into this nonsense just as much as the boys do. It's quite clear that everybody involved recognizes the sexual symbols mixed up in all this. What is a panty raid except another expression of the older ones of receiving a lady's glove or handkerchief as a token of favor. You know, tournaments, jousting and all that sort of thing."

What to do about it? "I don't know," said Dr. Farnham. "It's pretty primitive stuff."

The Money Prize in Unionism

By George Sokolsky

Each generation discovers what has long existed as something startlingly new. Labor racketeering seems such a new discovery in the year 1957, although it has been usual in American labor for a century. Back in the days of the Knights of Labor, there was a racket called the Home Club which while posing as a labor organization actually worked for the bosses. These days it would be called a company union. The building trades back in the early days were particularly notorious because the business agents of the unions speeded up or slowed down work according to the deals that were made with them personally.

The kickback was an old form of union racketeering. The kickback was, in effect, a reduction in wages, part of it going to the foreman or a bookkeeper, but eventually making its way into the pockets of the boss.

A kickback is impossible unless the officials of the labor union agreed to it and for such an agreement they got a rake-off. There are all sorts of ways of turning union activity into petty private enterprise.

Today the kickback would be chicken feed because wherever there is a closed shop, the take is so big that union officials, except those way down the line, would not bother with such small amounts.

By singling out Dave Beck and his union as corrupt, some of the labor leaders are sure that they have taken the monkeys off their own backs, which is something we still have to see. What is necessary is a complete, overall study of the money prize in American trade unionism. When a labor leader has absolute and personal control of a quarter of a billion dollars of public funds, for which he is in no manner bound to account, then he is a dangerous person because he can use that money honestly or corruptly at will.

No citizens other than labor leaders are so empowered. No group could accumulate such funds without treasury supervision and control.

The claim is constantly being made that certain labor leaders work with the "mob" and that others do not. The term, Mob, is intended to give the impression that sinister forces, gangsters, racketeers and murderers have formed a conspiracy with labor leaders to control the production and distribution of goods.

Again, it is nothing new in American labor relations, and the unions which are now praised for their purity have a long history of such associations. In fact, the garment industry of New York which these days is praised as superior to Dave Beck's Teamsters at one stage found gangsters on both the union and industry side.

It is supposed to be high strategy in labor circles to speak well of certain labor leaders and to denounce others because of their relations to the "mob." Taking the history of all the unions, over all the years of their existence, it is impossible to discover such puritanism as we are now asked to recognize.

It is the repetition of the big lie that makes such labor leaders

IN HIS MELLOW AUTOBIOGRAPHY, "Much Ado About Me," the late Fred Allen reveals that his father was a book-binder at the Boston Public Library, supporting his family on the salary of $1,000 a year. After school Fred also worked at the same library—in the stacks and sometimes in the children's reading room. His theatrical career began when he did a juggling act at a librarians' party.

One girl told him, "You're crazy for keeping work here. You ought to go on the stage." Reflects Allen in his book, "If that girl only had kept her mouth shut I might have wound up as head man at the Boston Public Library!"

Choosing Physician Important to Health

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN

Do you have your own family physician?

All of you should have a doctor you know, trust and respect. You will feel much more at ease with him and you will be more apt to consult him quickly if you feel ill. If you have no personal physician, you will probably put off visiting the doctor until pain or illness force you to go and at times that may be too late.

Annual Check-Up

I have repeatedly stressed the importance of annual medical examinations for all of you, no matter what your age. You are more likely to have these check-ups if you can arrange them with a doctor you know.

But what if you do not have a family doctor now? How can you choose one?

One way is to ask several persons, whose judgment and opinions you respect, to recommend a good doctor. If a couple of your friends recommend the same physician, chances are you will be pretty satisfied with him.

Check Medical Society

Another method is to ask your local medical society or office of the American Medical Association for a recommendation.

Generally these groups will give you a list of two, three or more doctors in your vicinity from which to choose.

Should you desire more information about a doctor you can check the American Medical Directory in your local library. Listed in this directory are each doctor's training, specialty, hospital and teaching affiliations and other pertinent information.

Keep a Record

Once you do find a doctor you like, keep a record of his name, address and phone number where it always will be available.

In an emergency, you will be glad you have your own doctor. But if you cannot reach him immediately, there are several ways in which you can summon help.

You can phone a nearby hospital, a physician listed in the phone book or the police. Or, in an emergency, to save time, just tell the operator you need a doctor.

Letters To Editor

EDITOR, RECORD-HERALD:

We attended a Citizens Committee meeting, if you could call it a meeting. It lasted about 10 minutes!

The chairman, Mr. Carl Janes called the meeting to order, then the secretary called the roll, and read the minutes of the last meeting; after which Mr. Janes said that because of the spectators present they could not function properly and made the motion the meeting be adjourned. He asked Mr. Floyd Hoppes to second the motion and did not give any other member of the committee a chance to speak, even though Mr. Brandenburg protested.

We are of the opinion that the meetings are open to the public. The visitors at this meeting were there because of their interest in the schools and the Citizens Committee findings, not to hinder the committee in the function of their business. Mr. Janes said the visitors at this meeting were the same ones who had attended previous meetings. This was our first time there, but it certainly will not be our last.

More people should attend these meetings because, they would find it hard to believe that some men entrusted with such a responsibility could act so childish. The citizens of the community who are working hard, and are interested in our children's welfare need more support and earnestly urge everyone to attend these meetings.

little angels in 1957 who were quite devilish in the 1930s. Are we all supposed to lose our memories?

Until the money prize in trade unionism is abolished, so that being a labor leader ceases to be a profitable enterprise but becomes a job with a fixed salary and nothing more—until that happens, the money prize in labor union leadership becomes a lodestone for a political type of individual who unites with others of the same kind of person to make what he can out of it. Some men seek power; others money.

Some work for both. But no labor leader can afford, under present circumstances, to live among his fellows strictly on his salary without an expense account and without access to strike funds, educational funds and welfare funds.

A close analysis of the political expenditures of unions is more important nationally than Dave Beck's Fifth Amendment pleas.

The enormous money power of these labor leaders is having the same effect upon politics as the use of money by big business in the 1850s.

In fact, it is getting so that in many places the only people with ready cash are labor leaders and those who work the angles. It gives a man power to have ready cash these days.

The Nation Today

WASHINGTON (AP)—The AFL-CIO has laid the groundwork for keeping its member unions and their officers honest and democratic. That shows good intentions. But two questions remain unanswered.

How hard will the AFL-CIO work at cleaning its own house? And can it really do a good job without action by Congress in the form of new laws to guard the money and interests of rank-and-file union members?

The AFL and CIO, when they merged in 1955, wrote into their constitution machinery for investigating wrongdoing by unions and their officers and for suspending and expelling them.

That was done before the nation was shocked this year by the Senate Rackets Committee's disclosures involving the Teamsters Union and the handling of its funds by its president, Dave Beck.

Those disclosures gave the AFL-CIO added reason for doing its own cleaning earnestly or facing the prospect of having the federal government do it.

But unionists play politics among themselves. And, like politicians, they are bound to have respect for size and numbers.

Investigating and throwing out a small union is neither difficult nor shattering. Taking the initiative against a giant union requires more guts.

The AFL-CIO did not begin its investigation of Beck's Teamsters, biggest union of all, until the Senate committee's revelations made such an investigation inescapably necessary.

If a Senate committee was needed to tell the AFL-CIO what was going on in Beck's union, what reason is there to believe it will be any more perceptive or active against some other big union until it is forced to be?

That is why burden of proof is on the AFL-CIO to show it means business permanently when it asserts, through a series of well-sounding statements, its determination to do its own police work.

The key instrument in the AFL-CIO constitution for ferreting out corrupt or undemocratic practices in its union is the Executive Council.

This council is composed of top officials from the member unions, which have traditionally resented outside prying into their affairs. It is the real power in the AFL-CIO.

The constitution says this council, when requested to do so by President George Meany, or any council member, can investigate corruption or bad practices in a member union.

In addition, it can hold hearings and order a union's suspension. Only the annual convention can vote to expel.

But in a resolution which it

The AFL-CIO does not have subpoena power. Legislative committees and law enforcement agencies, which do have such power, can compel the appearance of witnesses and production of records under penalty of punishment for refusing.

Last week the council fired Beck from its list of vice-presidents. It also suspended the small Laundry Workers Union and gave two other small unions, the Industrial and Distillery Workers, a choice between suspension and probation.

A Senate committee exposed welfare fund abuses in those two unions two years ago and the council was not satisfied with their efforts to clean up. Last week's action was the strongest taken by the AFL-CIO since its merger two years ago.

What Our Population Trend Means Soon

Although we accept the situation in stride and do not notice it so much in a small county of the rural type such as Fayette, yet a look at our own population figures, especially in Washington C. H., will bring realization of growth and, to some extent, point out what is happening in the rest of the nation.

Local sources which have various means of estimating the population of this city place that figure at between 12,000 and 13,000. They say that the old 1950 federal census figures cannot possibly be considered as a basis for the present population which they claim has increased at a faster rate in the last five to seven years than ever before.

This would appear to be in line with what is happening in our country as a whole. The population of the United States is now declared to be exceeding the 170 million mark, over 19 million more inhabitants than were counted in the 1950 census.

The expert observers who deal with census figures at the present time declare that the three factors working to change the age distribution of our total national inhabitants, which is expected to reach more than 190 million by 1965, are the low birth rate of the 1930's, the high birth rate of the last 10 years and the increased life expectancy of the adult population.

The changing age composition of the population has had, and will continue to have, a far reaching impact upon our national economy. For example it will influence the nation's labor force and the demand for goods and services.

The nation's labor force is growing at a slower rate than the total population. This is largely a result of the low birth rate of the 1930's, which will be reflected during the next nine years by an actual decrease in the number of adults between 25 and 44 years of age. Between now and 1965, all of the growth in the adult population of working age will occur in the age groups between 45 and 64 years.

The reduced supply of younger people

available for work between now and 1965 means that employers will have to hire more women than ever before in order to keep up with the country's expanding economy. From 1956 to 1965, close to 9 million workers are expected to be added to the labor force and about half of these are expected to be women. By 1965, one out of every three workers will be a woman as compared with about one out of every four workers at the beginning of the post-war period.

The relatively smaller labor force will be supporting a relatively larger number of nonworkers. In 1945, for every 100 persons in the country's labor force there were 114 nonworkers. By 1965, the population projections suggest that there will be 144 nonworkers for every 100 workers.

Developing the initiative, resourcefulness and versatility of the smaller numbers of young workers, which as a group represent the depression babies of the 1930's, would appear particularly important, for they are the only group in our population which is not growing in size. In this connection, it should be remembered that the younger workers of today will be the foremen, managers and board chairmen of the not too distant future.

It should also be noted any sharp reduction in the length of the manufacturing work week, for which so many are now contending, would require an equally sharp improvement in productivity merely to maintain the current standard of living.

It would appear open to question whether a substantial reduction in the work week could be made if the standard of living is to be increased appreciably, considering the smaller proportion of the population expected to be participating in the labor force over the foreseeable future.

All this would seem to mean that instead of our having less work and less problems a decade from now, we are likely to be "up to our ears" in finding ways to keep the procession moving forward.

Diet and Health

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN

Do you have your own family physician?

All of you should have a doctor you know, trust and respect. You will feel much more at ease with him and you will be more apt to consult him quickly if you feel ill. If you have no personal physician, you will probably put off visiting the doctor until pain or illness force you to go and at times that may be too late.

Annual Check-Up

I have repeatedly stressed the importance of annual medical examinations for all of you, no matter what your age. You are more likely to have these check-ups if you can arrange them with a doctor you know.

But what if you do not have a family doctor now? How can you choose one?

One way is to ask several persons, whose judgment and opinions you respect, to recommend a good doctor. If a couple of your friends recommend the same physician, chances are you will be pretty satisfied with him.

Check Medical Society

Another method is to ask your local medical society or office of the American Medical Association for a recommendation.

Generally these groups will give you a list of two, three or more doctors in your vicinity from which to choose.

Should you desire more information about a doctor you can check the American Medical Directory in your local library. Listed in this directory are each doctor's training, specialty, hospital and teaching affiliations and other pertinent information.

Keep a Record

Once you do find a doctor you like, keep a record of his name, address and phone number where it always will be available.

In an emergency, you will be glad you have your own doctor. But if you cannot reach him immediately, there are several ways in which you can summon help.

You can phone a nearby hospital, a physician listed in the phone book or the police. Or, in an emergency, to save time, just tell the operator you need a doctor.

QUESTION AND ANSWER

Mrs. R. S.: My doctor told me that I have a dropped kidney. Would this have any influence on my becoming pregnant?

Answer: In most cases, pregnancy can occur in persons with a dropped kidney.

Czechs Place Ban On Ohio Orchestra

VIENNA, Austria (AP)—The Czechoslovak radio has announced the Cleveland, Ohio, symphony orchestra will not play at the Prague spring festival.

The invitation to the Cleveland orchestra had been canceled by Czechoslovakia's Communist authorities because the U. S. State Department had refused to waive fingerprinting requirements for a Czech orchestra scheduled to visit the United States.

What will you do when you reach 65?—retire on a guaranteed income as 1 man in 20 can... or continue to work or depend upon relatives, friends or charity, as the other 19 must do?

You'll earn a fortune between your first and last pay checks—a part of your earnings should be savings. For a man of 30, at the very low cost of only $3.63* per week, you can own Modern Woodmen's new Preferred Security Plan, which pays... if you live... if you die... if you quit.

And here's what it will do for YOU or YOUR family:

Immediate value in case of death	$10,000
Increased at age 65 to	$12,923
Paid-up insurance estate at age 65	$10,703
Cash at age 65	$ 8,523

*Monthly Income for Life at 65 $ 52.70 (Based on present dividend schedule) *Annual Payment Basis.

The Nation Today

WASHINGTON (AP)—The AFL-CIO has laid the groundwork for keeping its member unions and their officers honest and democratic. That shows good intentions. But two questions remain unanswered.

How hard will the AFL-CIO work at cleaning its own house? And can it really do a good job without action by Congress in the form of new laws to guard the money and interests of rank-and-file union members?

The AFL and CIO, when they merged in 1955, wrote into their constitution machinery for investigating wrongdoing by unions and their officers and for suspending and expelling them.

That was done before the nation was shocked this year by the Senate Rackets Committee's disclosures involving the Teamsters Union and the handling of its funds by its president, Dave Beck.

Those disclosures gave the AFL-CIO added reason for doing its own cleaning earnestly or facing the prospect of having the federal government do it.

But unionists play politics among themselves. And, like politicians, they are bound to have respect for size and numbers.

Investigating and throwing out a small union is neither difficult nor shattering. Taking the initiative against a giant union requires more guts.

The AFL-CIO did not begin its investigation of Beck's Teamsters, biggest union of all, until the Senate committee's revelations made such an investigation inescapably necessary.

If a Senate committee was needed to tell the AFL-CIO what was going on in Beck's union, what reason is there to believe it will be any more perceptive or active against some other big union until it is forced to be?

That is why burden of proof is on the AFL-CIO to show it means business permanently when it asserts, through a series of well-sounding statements, its determination to do its own police work. The key instrument in the AFL-CIO constitution for ferreting out corrupt or undemocratic practices in its union is the Executive Council.

This council is composed of top officials from the member unions, which have traditionally resented outside prying into their affairs. It is the real power in the AFL-CIO.

The constitution says this council, when requested to do so by President George Meany, or any council member, can investigate corruption or bad practices in a member union.

In addition, it can hold hearings and order a union's suspension. Only the annual convention can vote to expel.

But in a resolution which it

adopted in January the council pointed out one serious limitation on its ability to bring corruption to light.

The AFL-CIO does not have subpoena power. Legislative committees and law enforcement agencies, which do have such power, can compel the appearance of witnesses and production of records under penalty of punishment for refusing.

Last week the council fired Beck from its list of vice presidents. It also suspended the small Laundry Workers Union and gave two other small unions, the Industrial and Distillery Workers, a choice between suspension and probation.

A Senate committee exposed welfare fund abuses in those two unions two years ago and the council was not satisfied with their efforts to clean up. Last week's action was the strongest taken by the AFL-CIO since its merger two years ago.

Angered Tenant, 79, Hits Landlady with Ax

WARREN (AP)—Frank Bitelli, 79, told police he got so angry at his landlady when she refused to let him use the lavatory, he hit her on the head with an ax.

The landlady, Mrs. Mary Heise, 38, was in fair condition in Trumbull Memorial Hospital. The hospital said she had a deep cut on her head and a fractured skull as a result of the incident Friday. Police charged Bitelli with assault with a deadly weapon.

Ohio Turnpike Tolls Slated for Increase

CLEVELAND (AP)—It will cost more for passenger cars and light trucks to travel the Ohio Turnpike starting Tuesday.

An average increase of 16.44 per cent in rates was approved by the Ohio Turnpike Commission.

A motorist going the full 241 miles of the pike will pay $3.50 under the new schedule compared with the present fee of $3. The rate boost is expected to produce about $1,166,000 more revenue annually.

Miss Bonnie Lee Washburn Becomes Bride Of Second Lieutenant Richard Benson

Mrs. Richard Lewis Benson

At 3:30 p. m. Sunday Miss Bonnie Lee Washburn became the bride of Second Lieutenant Richard Benson in Grace Methodist Church, The Rev. Lloyd J. Poe officiated.

Miss Washburn is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fay Washburn Sr., 608 High St., and Lt. Benson's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Benson, 501 Rawlings St.

The church was decorated with seven seven-branch candelabra, flanked with palms and baskets of white gladioli centered with large white satin bows and huckleberry. White satin bowties lined the bride's aisle.

A half hour of nuptial music preceded the ceremony presented by Mr. Robert Neumann, soloist, and Miss Marion Christopher, organist. Mr. Neumann sang "I Love You Truly," by Carrie Jacobs Bond, "Because" by D'Harder, "O Promise Me" by DeKoven, "The Lord's Prayer," by Malotte, and "How Do I Love Thee" by Lippe.

Miss Christopher played an air from "Orpheus" by Gluck, the benediction nuptial "Saint Saens Romance" by Debussy, "Sarabande" by Bach and "Spring" by Bach. To the strains of Lohengrin's "Wedding March" the bride approached the altar on the arm of her father. She was a picture of loveliness in a gown fashioned of point d'esprit and nylon tulle over taffeta. The basque bodice featured a sabrina neckline and long sleeves that tapered to tiny points over the hands. The scalloped edged overskirt opened down the front and panniered over the hips from which cascaded row upon row of point d'esprit and nylon tulle ruffles that billowed softly into a chapel train. Her fingertip veil of French illusion was caught to a halo plateau of lace adorned with seed pearls and iridescent.

She carried the traditional hand bouquet of white neige perfume roses with lily of the valley and stephanotis bells, centered with a white orchid with a yellow throat. Her only jewelry was a single strand of pearls, a gift from the groom.

The bride chose her sister, Mrs. Merrill Kaufman, of Boston, Mass., for her matron of honor. Her other attendants were Miss Kay Satterfield, niece of the bride, Miss Shirley Barnhart and Miss Marilyn Riley of Columbus, Miss Betty Carpenter and Miss Julia Persinger, of Washington C. H. Deborah Lynn Washburn, the bride's niece was the flower girl.

The attendants were dressed in identical ballerina length gowns, fashioned in nylon organdy over taffeta in porcelain blue. The permanent pleated gowns were sleeveless with full circular skirts. The fitted midriffs and wide banded scoop necklines were accented with pearl and caught in the back with bows. They wore matching hairbraids pattern hats draped with organdy caught with tiny seed pearls. They carried cascade bouquets of white carnations with blue tinted tips and white satin bows and streamers. The flower girl carried a white basket holding white and blue carnations and white satin ribbons. The bride presented her attendants with pearl earrings and seed necklaces to match. The bride's mother wore a Dior blue lace dress over satin, which featured a scalloped neckline and matching jacket with three quarter length sleeves trimmed in scallops. Her matching hat was trimmed in blue sequins, and at her shoulder she wore a corsage of red roses.

The groom's mother wore a one piece re-embroidered wedgewood blue lace dress over taffeta with a scooped neckline. The dress featured short sleeves, with dyed to match sequin and pearl beading on the bodice. She wore white accessories and a corsage of red roses.

Ushers were Mr. Merrill Kaufman, Boston, Mass., brother-in-law of the bride, Mr. James Cunningham, Mr. James Newbrey, Mr. Raymond Parks, and Mr. Harold Cummings, all of Washington C. H.

Immediately following the ceremony the wedding party formed a receiving line to accept the good wishes of their friends.

The wedding reception was held in Fellowship Hall with Mrs. Nelson Satterfield of Blanchester and Mrs. Donald Priest of Leesburg, sisters of the bride, Mrs. William Benson, Mrs. Robert Chaney and Mrs. Max Schlicher, all of Washington C. H., as hostesses. Miss Jean Ann Boylan was in charge of the guest book.

The wedding table was centered with a beautiful four-tiered ice-blue wedding cake with white trim. Each tier was arranged on a large pillar in the center and topped with a bride and groom figurine.

Following the reception the bride changed into a two-piece silk beige dress. The dress featured cap sleeves and a pencil slim skirt. The matching jacket had push up sleeves and a Peter Pan collar. Her shoes and purse were of gold lustre metallic and pinned at her shoulder was the white orchid with a yellow throat, from her corsage.

The young couple then left for a honeymoon in the Smoky Mountains.

The bride is a graduate of Washington High School, Class of 1954, and for three years was employed as cashier at the City Loan and Savings Co. Washington C. H.

The groom graduated also from Washington High School, Class of 1954 and entered cadet training in the U. S. Air Force in March of 1956. He received his wings and his commission as second lieutenant on May 21.

Upon their return the couple will live in Waco, Tex., where the groom will be stationed at James Connally Air Force Base for five months of advanced training in a specialized field.

Out of town guests were from St. Petersburg, Fla., Boston, Mass., Hillsboro, Greenfield, Columbus, Leesburg, Blanchester, Bluffton, Wilmington, Gallipolis and Rio Grande.

At 3:30 p. m. Sunday Miss Bonnie Lee Washburn became the bride of Second Lieutenant Richard Benson in Grace Methodist Church. The Rev. Lloyd J. Poe officiated.

Miss Washburn is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fay Washburn Sr., 608 High St., and Lt. Benson's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Benson, 501 Rawlings St.

The church was decorated with seven seven-branch candelabra, flanked with palms and baskets of white gladioli centered with large white satin bows and huckleberry. White satin bowties lined the bride aisle.

A half hour of nuptial music preceded the ceremony presented by Mr. Robert Neumann, soloist, and Miss Marion Christopher, organist. Mr. Neumann sang "I Love You Truly," by Carrie Jacobs Bond, "Because," by D'Hardelle, "O Promise Me" by DeKoven, "The Lord's Prayer," by Malotte, and "How Do I Love Thee" by Lippe.

Miss Christopher played an air from "Orpheus" by Gluck, the benediction nuptial "Saint Saens Romance" by Debussy, "Sarabande" by Bach and "Spring" by Bach. To the strains of Lohengrin's "Wedding March" the bride approached the altar on the arm of her father. She was a picture of loveliness in a gown fashioned of point d'esprit and nylon tulle over taffeta. The basque bodice featured a sabrina neckline and long sleeves that tapered to tiny points over the hands. The scalloped edged overskirt opened down the front and panniered over the hips from which cascaded row upon row of point d'esprit and nylon tulle ruffles that billowed softly into a chapel train. Her fingertip veil of French illusion was caught to a halo plateau of lace adorned with seed pearls and iridescents.

She carried the traditional hand bouquet of white neige perfume roses with lily of the valley and stephanotis bells, centered with a white orchid with a yellow throat. Her only jewelry was a single strand of pearls, a gift from the groom.

The bride chose her sister, Mrs. Merrill Kaufman, of Boston, Mass., for her matron of honor. Her other attendants were Miss Kay Satterfield, niece of the bride, Miss Shirley Barnhart and Miss Marilyn Riley of Columbus, Miss Betty Carpenter and Miss Julia Persinger, of Washington C. H. Deborah Lynn Washburn, the bride's niece was the flower girl.

The attendants were dressed in identical ballerina length gowns, fashioned in nylon organdy over taffeta in porcelain blue. The permanent pleated gowns were sleeveless with full circular skirts. The fitted midriffs and wide banded scoop necklines were accented with pearl and caught in the back with bows. They were matching hairbraided picture hats draped with organdy caught with tiny seed pearls. They carried cascade bouquets of white carnations with blue tinted tips and white satin bows and streamers. The flower girl carried a white basket holding white and blue carnations and white satin ribbons. The bride presented her attendants with pearl earrings and seed necklaces to match.

The bride's mother wore a Dior blue lace dress over satin, which featured a scalloped neckline and matching jacket with three quarter length sleeves trimmed in scallops. Her matching hat was trimmed in blue sequins, and at her shoulder she wore a corsage of red roses.

The groom's mother wore a one piece re-embroidered wedgewood blue lace dress over taffeta with a scooped neckline. The dress featured short sleeves, with dyed to match sequin and pearl beading on the bodice. She wore white accessories and a corsage of red roses.

Ushers were Mr. Merrill Kaufman, Boston, Mass., brother-in-law of the bride, Mr. James Cunningham, Mr. James Newbrey, Mr. Raymond Parks, and Mr. Harold Cummings, all of Washington C. H.

Immediately following the ceremony the wedding party formed a receiving line to accept the good wishes of their friends.

The wedding reception was held in Fellowship Hall with Mrs. Nelson Satterfield of Blanchester and Mrs. Donald Priest of Leesburg, sisters of the bride, Mrs. William Benson, Mrs. Robert Chaney and Mrs. Max Schlicher, all of Washington C. H., as hostesses. Miss Jean Ann Boylan was in charge of the guest book.

The wedding table was centered with a beautiful four-tiered ice-blue wedding cake with white trim. Each tier was arranged on a large pillar in the center and topped with a bride and groom figurine.

Following the reception the bride changed into a two-piece silk beige dress. The dress featured cap sleeves and a pencil slim skirt. The matching jacket had push up sleeves and a Peter Pan collar. Her shoes and purse were of gold lustre metallic and pinned at her shoulder was the white orchid with a yellow throat, from her corsage.

The young couple then left for a honeymoon in the Smoky Mountains.

The bride is a graduate of Washington High School, Class of 1954, and for three years was employed as cashier at the City Loan and Savings Co. Washington C. H.

The groom graduated also from Washington High School, Class of 1954 and entered cadet training in the U. S. Air Force in March of 1956. He received his wings and his commission as second lieutenant on May 21.

Upon their return the couple will live in Waco, Tex., where the groom will be stationed at James Connally Air Force Base for five months of advanced training in a specialized field.

Out of town guests were from St. Petersburg, Fla., Boston, Mass., Hillsboro, Greenfield, Columbus, Leesburg, Blanchester, Bluffton, Wilmington, Gallipolis and Rio Grande.

Judge Overparks, Ignores Ticket

MALVERN, Ark. (AP)—Municipal Judge Wendell-Epperson was looking over his court docket when he saw a familiar name—Wendell Epperson.

The charge was failure to heed an overtime parking ticket. He pleaded guilty and fined himself a dollar.

Friendly Dozen Holds Meeting

The Friendly Dozen Home Demonstration Club met at the home of Mrs. Jack Shoemaker.

Eleven members were present for this last meeting until fall.

The president, Mrs. Robert Edgington, conducted a brief business session and led a discussion on "Let's Eat More Milk", which was the project for the month. Mrs. Edgington stressed that members should use the milk recipes they had received.

Surveys were made of the projects completed during the past year.

It was announced that a short course will be held at Ohio State University June 17 to 19 for any homemaker who would like to attend.

Informal visiting was enjoyed during the social hour during which refreshments were served by the hostess assisted by Mrs. Ruth Chaney.

Air Cooling Industry Set For Big Year

8th Straight Sales Record Season Said Manufacturers' Goal

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—The air conditioning industry enters its big selling season with hopes of setting its eighth straight sales and output record. Its two chief fears: a cool summer and a continuing lag in home building.

As for profits—that troublesome problem of recent years—the remaining companies and dealers in the field hope for better days.

In the fast growing postwar years the industry made more coolers than there were customers to go around. Inventory glutted and price cutting led a number of makers to drop out.

Total retail volume in 1956 for industrial, commercial and home air conditioning came to three billion dollars. Industry spokesmen hope for at least 3½ billion this year.

The Air Conditioning and Refrigeration Institute puts sales of room units at 1,600,000 last year and central cooling systems for homes at 150,000 units. It looks for a record this year for central cooling, but admits the disturbing dip in home building is a factor.

Cloud Wampler, chairman of Carrier, estimates some 250,000 central systems should be sold this year.

The industry as a whole hopes to sell two million room coolers. Technicians work at making air conditioners smaller, cheaper and quieter. They also are perfecting them to control odors, remove bacteria, block smog, and foil allergic substances.

The institute says that purchasers should get a break this year because 22 manufacturers of room units have agreed to publish capacity ratings of their products in terms of British Thermal Units (the amount of cooling capacity needed to lower the temperature of one pound of water by one degree at sea level).

This gives the buyer a standard of comparison, instead of the confusing ratings by horsepower, tons or evaporation equivalent formerly used.

Highest tides in the world are off Burncoat Head, Nova Scotia. They range from 46 to 54 feet above low water.

Round about Fayette County

By B. E. KELLEY

It will soon be 50 years since Washington C. H. and Fayette County celebrated their centennial. Both were founded in 1810, and the sesqui-centennial celebration year is 1960.

It has been only four years since the city and county took part in the Ohio Sesqui-centennial celebration, and the observance compared favorably with any in the state, and was an event long to be remembered.

The great centennial celebration staged here in 1910 was a pronounced success, as all committees of the large organization functioned properly, and great throngs attended the event.

Although the sesqui-centennial comes in three years, it is not too early to begin preparations for a celebration, which should be a big one, commemorating, as it will be the city's and county's 150th birthday anniversary.

Hillsboro is celebrating her sesqui-centennial this year, and is making elaborate preparations for the event. It will be held in July.

City and farm organizations will, in all probability, collaborate in the forthcoming observance of the very important birthday.

FEWER GARDENS

I notice in various parts of the county that not as much attention is being given to gardens, either in the city or county at large, as in some previous years.

Apparently there has been a decline in the number and size of gardens year after year for several years, since most garden produce is available in the markets. Some farmers buy all of their garden produce in the markets and have abandoned home gardening entirely.

One man I talked with is of the opinion that home gardens may, to a large extent, follow home produced butter which is no longer made in quantity, but the milk and cream are sold and the farmer buys creamery butter or oleo.

During both world wars, much attention was given to home gardens as a big adjunct to holding down the high cost of living, and there is no question but that home garden produce, free of sprays.

I have talked with some who have gardens who declare that they will never be without such a plot as long as they are able to care for one and that they find it a great saving when the food bill is tallied up.

BIG HICKORY NUTS

For the past 70 years a hickory tree which bears nuts of giant size has stood in a field on what is now the Robert C. Haigler farm, on the east side of Route 38, almost opposite the old Klever school, a half mile south of Yatesville.

The nuts are about 1½ inches long and 1¼ inches thick, or more than twice as large as the ordinary large shellbark hickory nut.

The tree was not over 20 feet in height when I first obtained hickory nuts from it, but now it is 40 feet or more in height, with a sizeable trunk, and nearly every year bears a crop of nuts.

Years ago the youngsters attending the Klever school each fall climbed the stake-and-rider rail fence along the road and gathered the big nuts from the tree, which stands alone in that part of the field, some 80 feet from the highway.

EAGLE FOUND DEAD

A bald eagle with 79-inch wing spread, apparently the same one which R. S. Rochester, of the Record-Herald, saw flying low over a road in Hocking County a few days ago, was found dead near where it has been seen two days before.

Whether the bird had died of old age, or other causes, was not announced. A picture of the eagle and the two boys who found it was carried in Thursday's issue of The Logan Daily News. The bird was turned over to the Hocking County game protector.

FORTY YEARS AGO

A series of tornadoes in Illinois, Kansas, Missouri, Arkansas and one or two other Midwestern states killed several hundred people and injured large numbers, as well as doing millions of dollars worth of damage.

Chunks of ice weighing a half pound or more fell in this city and county during the worst hail storm ever recorded here and heavy damage was done. M. E. Wilson, driving in western Fayette County, had

Golden Gate Bridge 20 Years Old Today

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—San Francisco today observed the 20th anniversary of one of its most important assets—the Golden Gate Bridge.

Stretching 4,200 feet from tower to tower, the world's longest and highest single suspension bridge, has been crossed by more than 165 million vehicles since 1937.

There have been only four traffic fatalities on the $35 million span in 20 years. And there have been 169 known suicides from its lofty deck.

London Farm Escapee Held in Pennsylvania

BUTLER, Pa. (AP)—Daniel David Nixon, 29, an escapee from the London Prison Farm in Ohio, is being held for Ohio authorities today. Nixon, who was serving a 1-20 year sentence for auto theft, walked away from the farm May 29, police said. Officers arrested him Sunday as he was hitchhiking along Rt. 8 south of here.

74,300 To Get Pay Hike

CLEVELAND (AP)—An estimated 74,300 employees in Cleveland-area plants in the automobile and basic steel industries will receive wage increases ranging from six to 13.4 cents an hour between May 29 and July 1.

Nearly 100,000 Americans were in service on the Western Front in France.

German air fleet raided the English coast for the second time in three days, and lost additional planes. Three zeppelins had been shot down in the first raid.

Sale of the C. & D. Railroad on June 7 was to be made to the highest bidder.

Major Mallow left for the season with a large string of horses including Kate McKinney, Billy Jr. Fair, Black Wreath, Ormonde Rose, Jay Billiken, the Bondsman and others.

Flies and Rats Carry Germs

The Fayette County Health Department wants you to know about the dangers from germ-carrying flies.

A departmental release, touching on the need for protection against human contact with disease organisms, states:

"Flies are said to carry germs cause summer diarrhea, dysentery and typhoid. What's more, the virus of polio has been recovered from flies in the laboratory.

"Rats too, carry disease. Worse they damage buildings, cause fires, and cost money. The food rats eat cost us thousands of dollars a year, disregarding the damage they do."

The Health Department declared that better storage of garbage is needed in Fayette County and

Washington C. H., and offers the following suggestions:

"Have garbage cans emptied often; do not permit them to fill up and run over.

When possible, wrap garbage in several thicknesses of paper to make cleaning of can easier.

"Keep garbage and refuse cans on wood or metal platforms. This improves cleanliness and keeps the bottom of cans from rusting.

Cans, platform, and storage area should be kept clean.

During warm weather, spray can with insecticides to control insects.

The above suggestions, are followed by each householder there will be fewer flies and rats.

List of 20 Nominees Submitted For Committee of Legion Post

Letters went out Monday to the 457 members of the Paul H. Hughes post of the American Legion here listing the 20 men selected by the nominating committee as candidates for the 11 seats on the post's executive committee.

Russ L. Whited, the retiring post commander, explained that the list of nominees was submitted in advance by mail by the nominating committee of R. B. Tharp, Eugene Ladrach and William Stoughton in order that Legionnaires might have an opportunity to give them unhurried consideration.

At any time June 10 between 5 and 9 p. m., members of the post may drop in at Headquarters and mark their ballots for 11 of these 20 nominees for the executive com-

THE NEW executive committee, which will be elected June 10, will meet within five days to name from its own membership the officers of the post.

The new officers and committee probab, will be formally installed at the last meeting in June, but the date has not yet been set definitely.

MIAMI, Fla. (P)—Mr. and Mrs. Philip B. McMillen of Shadyside, Ohio, will represent Ohio in the nationwide All-American Family search contest at Miami Beach, Fla., Tuesday. Winner of the title of All-American Family of 1957 will be chosen June 1. The contest is sponsored by Book of Knowledge and Boys' Clubs of America.

The contest also reminded that the annual ox roast will be held at the Fairgrounds here June 20, starting at 4 p. m. and continuing indefinitely.

The letter noted that "this is our one big money-raising project" and appealed for "the co-operation of every member" of the post.

Redwood Library in Newport, R.I., and King's Chapel in Boston are buildings designed by Peter Harrison, America's first professional architect, in the 18 Century.

Health Office Staff To Attend Conference

The entire staff of regular employees of the Fayette County Health Department will attend the annual meeting of the Ohio Public Health Assn. to be held at the Neil House in Columbus Tuesday and Wednesday of this week.

The department offices in the Courthouse, however, will remain open in charge of a special clerk to receive calls.

Office personnel who will attend are: Dr. B. V. Scott, health commissioner; Miss Gretchen Darlington, district supervising nurse; Mrs. Ruth Wientjes and Mrs. Phyllis Richards, visiting nurses and Mrs. Doris Diffendal, chief clerk. County Sanitarian Baker, of Ross County, in part-time service here also will attend.

Flies and Rats Carry Germs

The Fayette County Health Department wants you to know about the dangers from germ-carrying flies.

A departmental release, touching on the need for protection against human contact with disease organisms, states:

"Flies are said to carry germs cause summer diarrhea, dysentery and typhoid. What's more, the virus of polio has been recovered from flies in the laboratory."

"Rats too, carry disease. Worse they damage buildings, cause fires, and cost money. The food rats eat cost us thousands of dollars a year, disregarding the damage they do."

The Health Department declared that better storage of garbage is needed in Fayette County and

Washington C. H., and offers the following suggestions:

"Have garbage cans emptied often; do not permit them to fill up and run over."

When possible, wrap garbage in several thicknesses of paper to make cleaning of can easier.

"Keep garbage and refuse cans on wood or metal platforms. This improves cleanliness and keeps the bottom of cans from rusting."

Cans, platform, and storage area should be kept clean.

During warm weather, spray can with insecticides to control insects. The above suggestions, are followed by each household there will be fewer flies and rats."

List of 20 Nominees Submitted For Committee of Legion Post

Letters went out Monday to the 457 members of the Paul H. Hughes post of the American Legion here listing the 20 men selected by the nominating committee as candidates for the 11 seats on the post's executive committee.

Russ L. Whited, the retiring post commander, explained that the list of nominees was submitted in advance by mail by the nominating committee of R. B. Sharp, Eugene Ladrach and William Stoughton in order that Legionnaires might have an opportunity to give them unhurried consideration.

At any time June 10 between 5 and 9 p. m., members of the post may drop in at Headquarters and mark their ballots for 11 of these 20 nominees for the executive com-

THE NEW executive committee, which will be elected June 10, will meet within five days to name from its own membership the officers of the post.

The new officers and committee probably will be formally installed at the last meeting in June, but the date has not yet been set definitely.

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Mr. and Mrs. Philip B. McMillen of Shadyside, Ohio, will represent Ohio in the nationwide All-American Family search contest at Miami Beach, Fla., Tuesday. Winner of the title of All-American Family of 1957 will be chosen June 1. The contest is sponsored by Book of Knowledge and Boys' Clubs of America.

The letter noted that "this is our one big money-raising project" and appealed for "the co-operation of every member" of the post.

Health Office Staff To Attend Conference

The entire staff of regular employees of the Fayette County Health Department will attend the annual meeting of the Ohio Public Health Assn. to be held at the Neil House in Columbus Tuesday and Wednesday of this week.

The department offices in the Courthouse, however, will remain open in charge of a special clerk to receive calls.

Office personnel who will attend are: Dr. B. V. Scott, health commissioner; Miss Gretchen Darlington, district supervising nurse; Mrs. Ruth Wentjes and Mrs. Phyllis Richards, visiting nurses and Mrs. Doris Diffendal, chief clerk. County Sanitarian Baker, of Ross County, in part-time service here also will attend.

Shiny Metal Ball Readied For Zip Out of This World

Editor's Note: What lies beyond Earth's atmosphere. Is it cold? Hot? Empty? Packed with meteoroids? These are only a few of the questions scientists hope to answer when they shoot the first man-made meteor into space. Here is the first of three articles reporting up-to-the-minute plans the U. S. is making for this dramatic project.

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Reporter
WASHINGTON (AP) — Some of your destiny lies within a brilliant metal ball that looks like a huge Christmas tree ornament. It is stunningly beautiful, sitting here on a laboratory table. Inside, it is being fitted with ingenious eyes, ears, fingers, breath, voice and memory for a journey literally out of this world. For this shiny sphere is to become a shooting star, a man-made moon circling the earth every 90 to 100 minutes. It is going to be hurled hundreds of miles out into space by rockets reaching the never-before-attained speed of 18,000 miles an hour — five miles a second. Our first messenger into space, it will learn facts which could greatly benefit your life, and your children's. It will see our sun as man has never seen it. It will count meteors, the cosmic dust, tell us how empty, hot or cold space really is, and report the thick rain of powerful cosmic rays. It will help determine the exact shape of the earth, explore some mysteries of magnetism and aid in better prediction or control of weather. It will be man's first step toward rocketing himself through space. It may turn up astounding discoveries yet undreamed of by wildest imagination. But the Russians could do it first. For Russia also is planning to shoot man-made moons around the earth. Our first one probably won't be fired until early next year. No one outside Russia knows whether they are ahead of us — as yet they have announced no single detail on their progress. But you would guess the Soviets are not likely to beat us, after talking with scientists creating our little moons. "We feel pretty good now, we've come a long way," says Dr. John P. Hagen of the Naval Research Laboratory, directing project vanguard to hoist the shiny ball into space. "Many different, difficult things have to be brought to one climax.

We've had our troubles but now most of them are out of the way." Hanging out the satellite is a main and fascinating goal in the international Geophysical Year which begins officially July 1. IGY corals an army of 5,000 scientists from 58 nations into co-operative studies of weather, oceans, cosmic rays, gravity, glaciers, earthquakes — all major forces affecting our lives. All nations will share everything they learn. Only Russia, besides us, plans to launch satellites. Russia so far has openly reported all her many plans for IGY, except for the satellite and for firing short-lived rockets to explore the upper air. Our scientists and officials are reticent only about some details of rockets which will put the little moon into its orbit. For rocketry involves military secrets.

There is much speculation that the first nation to conquer space could control the world — putting all nations under telescopic observation from space platforms, hitting any target anywhere from outer space. There are also proposals to put space under international control. But the IGY moons are dedicated purely to peaceful benefit of all peoples. Only by rocket-vaulting tell-tale instruments into space can humans learn many things about puzzling cosmic forces and events having profound effects upon their home planet. Offhand, the blueprints look disarmingly simple. "You put the satellite into an orbit. You prove it's there. You do something scientific with it," the pipe-smoking Dr. Hagen says calmly.

Actually it involves a tremendous effort by hundreds of scientists, at a cost of millions of dollars. The little moon is only the size of a bushel basket, weighs 20½ pounds, easy enough for a woman to lift with one hand. But it must be shot to a speed that will counterbalance the earth's pull of gravity, so it swings about like a ball on the end of a string. Then it will stay up, in an elliptical orbit bringing it no closer than 200 miles from earth, nor farther than 1,200 to 1,500 miles away. "If we miss the minimum speed by one foot per second, we fail," Dr. Hagen points out. "In this horse race, we must win on the nose. There is no place or show. That speed is farther than anyone has shot a rocket before." The ball is a thin magnesium shell, given fantastically thin coatings on the outside of zinc, copper, silver, gold — two ounces of gold worth $70 — chromium, and aluminum. And a special outer invisible coating of silicon monoxide to help it get rid of excess heat and safeguard the delicate, insulated instrument inside. It shines and reflects like a mirror, the better to find it when it goes wheeling through distant space. Inside it, scientists are putting instruments to become the extensions and perceptions of the senses of man in outer space. The moon will rise up enclosed in the nose of a rocket 72 feet long, weighing 10 tons. It will be three rockets, firing off in stages. The first and larger two fall away after doing their job. The last one must race the ball up to its maximum, and correct, speed and altitude, then shove it away with a spring mechanism. For a while there will be two satellites, the ball itself and the four-foot-long third stage rocket. Gradually they will drift apart, the heavier rocket being slowed more by the ultra-thin glass in the not-quite-a-vacuum of space. But the glistening ball (sitting here so silently now) will chatter back to earth by radio telling—who knows quite what? No Shower, Just Baby MAYSVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Mrs. James Williams, a mother-to-be, couldn't attend a shower in her honor. An hour before the party, she was rushed to the hospital where she became a mother-as-of-now. IT'S SO EASY TO PLACE A WANT AD.

Scout District Holds Annual Meeting

Youth Guidance Needs Stressed by Speaker

"If there is a serious youth problem today, the reason may be that there are too many storks and not enough chimneys." At least that's the way Perle L. Whitehead, deputy regional executive of the Boy Scouts of America, sees it.

Whitehead spoke to 60 adult Scout workers attending the annual dinner meeting of the Fayette County District at the County Club here Friday night.

"About that stork and chimney business," he explained, "I simply mean that if we continue to increase our youth population, we must be willing to increase our youth guidance programs at the same rate."

Whitehead's work with Boy Scouts began in 1919 when he organized Troop 6 in Dayton which is still active. He has 38 years of work with boys and has developed a personal tolerance toward today's youth-adult relations. Although his views might be considered optimistic by some, he believes the so-called juvenile delinquent cases have only increased in proportion to the increase in population.

"THERE ARE no problems which can't be solved," he said, "if adults will just recognize that here in America child guidance is still the voluntary responsibility of the adults, unlike so many places where this job has been permitted to pass into the hands of the government. The Boy Scouts of America program is now serving 4 1/2 million boys in the United States with only about 3,000 paid employees. Therefore, the fact that there is one adult worker for every 3 1/2 boys shows that most of the guidance is provided by volunteer workers of the organizations sponsoring Boy Scout units."

"There's no problem of getting boys interested in Scouting," he said; "Surveys show that 70 per cent of the early school-age boys indicate a desire for Scouting; the big job is to find enough sponsoring organization and volunteer adult workers. The Scouting program stands ready and able to help meet the youth needs of communities; but it's like cough medicine on a shelf—it won't help your cough unless you use it now and then."

DURING the business session Central Ohio Council President Robert Terhune installed the principal officers of the district, Robert E. Minshall, chairman; Dewey A. Sheidler, vice chairman; and Marvin Thornburg, district commissioner.

Field Executive C. O. Williams reported 16 Scout units are active in the county serving 349 boys in 1956. The present total of 2,221 Scouting-age boys in Fayette County will increase about 2,500 by 1960. A district goal of 1,000 active Scouts is expected to be reached by that time.

Paul W. Handel, Scout executive of the nine-county Central Ohio Council, reported 20,000 men and boys registered in the Council. Of the 276 districts in the Ohio, Kentucky and West Virginia Region 4, three in the Central Ohio Council were recently rated in the top 10 for all-around activity.

Handel stated that the Scout Handbook is second only to the Bible in number printed, and he presented Chairman Minshall with a copy commemorating the 15 millionth printing.

Minshall presided over the session and Thornburg introduced the various unit leaders.

The Rev. L. J. Poe, pastor of Grace Methodist Church, gave the invocation and the benediction.

Last January, Fleishman and his wife, Dolores, realized they were due for an addition to the family, at that time made up of three-year-old Eric. Fleishman placed an insurance policy with Lloyd's of London. Under the agreement, the Fleishmans would get $2,000 if they had twins.

Sunday, along came Holly Beth and Hope Susan, a pair of bouncing girls. Lloyd's is processing now the policy which cost $70.

Enlistments In Company M Are Restricted

Recruiting of Men Without Prior Service Suspended for June

Orders have just been received by Company M, Ohio National Guard unit here, that all recruiting of men without prior military service will be suspended during June, Chief Warrant Officer Robert Goodson announced Monday.

Goodson emphasized, however, that men who have had previous military service may enlist during next month and, also, that present members of the company, whose terms expire during June, may re-enlist.

Goodson pointed out that men who have not had previous military service still have four days left in May in which they may enlist in Company M.

He reminded that young men of the 17-18 1/2-year-old age bracket may enlist now for the new six-month program. This, he explained, permits them to take six months of active duty and then spend 5 1/2 years in Company M. He noted that enlistees must star, their active duty training within four months after they enlist.

THE ARMORY, Company M headquarters, will be open every day this week and on Tuesday night, Goodson said, to give complete information on the enlistment regulations.

Goodson gave this explanation of the restriction of enlistments during June: Men have been enlisting in the six-month program at the rate of about 4,000 a week and, it is believed, that there are not sufficient funds and facilities available right now to train additional men.

Company M will take up to 13 more men before the deadline, if they qualify, Goodson said.

Two Company M guardsmen recently re-enlisted for one-year periods. Goodson revealed. They are, he said, Sgt. David R. Hall, a squad leader in a mortar platoon, and SP-3 Robert E. Stevenson, a gunner in the anti-tank platoon. Both are Washington C. H. men.

Pfc. Gary Kellenberger Due Home from Far East

Pfc. Gary D. Kellenberger, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dana Kellenberger, Good Hope, Rd., will arrive home this week on furlough after 19 months of overseas service with the U. S. Marine Corps. His tour of duty has taken him to Okinawa, the Philippines, Iwo Jima and Japan.

Pfc. Kellenberger arrived in San Francisco Friday with a contingent from the Far East, according to word received by his parents.

Bible-Carrying Youth Admits Rape-Slaying

HACKENSACK, N. J. (AP)—An 18-year-old youth who always carries a Bible in his pocket was charged with murder Sunday in the rape-slaying of pretty Ruth Zeitler.

Fred Galda, first assistant Bergen County prosecutor, said Ronald Marrone, a Fair Lawn High School sophomore, had dictated what Galda called a confession to the lovers' lane strangulation of his 15-year-old classmate.

Galda quoted the youth as repeating "I'm making this statement to God" as he held tightly to his Bible.

Marrone read the statement carefully and signed it late Sunday night, Galda said he is scheduled to appear at a preliminary hearing June 7.

The youth was among more than 40 persons questioned since Ruth's semiprivate body was found in a wooded glen last Thursday.

The girl, a pretty brunette, had left for afternoon classes at the high school May 17. She did not arrive for classes and never came home.

When her body was found, her white belt was knotted about her neck. Some of her clothing was rolled up in a ball nearby, and a wad of cleansing tissue was stuffed in her mouth.

An autopsy report said the girl had been raped.
Galda said Marrone had picked Ruth up in a car at 11:30 a. m. on the day of the murder, drove her to the deserted lovers' lane area and managed to return to classes by about 12:20 p. m.

Dogwood Tree Project Booms At Chillicothe

CHILLICOTHE — Don Placier, president of the Retail Merchants Assn., reported Saturday $3,134.50 has been received in Chillicothe's dogwood tree project. The amount, he said, includes $1,650.50 contributed for the purchases of trees for public planting and $1,484 for trees order by individuals for residential planting.

He said 885 trees are now on order.

Among the recent orders, Placier said, is one from the Mead Corporation for 50 trees that will be planted in Meaco Park and around the paper plant's office buildings and research laboratory.

Color Slide Exhibit Stated Here June 18

An exhibit of around 700 color slides is to be held in the Dayton Power & Light Co. auditorium June 18 under sponsorship of the Fayette Camera Club.

These slides will be selected from the 3,000 which were exhibited Saturday and Sunday in the 12th International Color and Nature Slide Exhibit in Columbus.

These same slides also will be shown in several other Central Ohio cities. All the exhibits will be open to the public without charge.

Mrs. Muriel Hays of Washington C.H., a photographer exhibitor and judge, was one of the three color slide judges at the weekend exhibit in Columbus. The others were Gordon Kuster Jr., Columbus Dispatch photographer, and Make Tatem, Columbus, photograph illustrator, lecturer and judge.

The nature slides were judged by Dr. Edward S. Thomas, curator of natural history of Ohio State University museum; Bob McAdams, color photographer and lecturer, and George Clemens, McConnelville, salon judge and exhibitor.

Delbert C. Hays and Roland Hites were among the exhibitors in the weekend exhibit.

Results of the judging will not be announced until next week.

At 71, She Tidies Up For Nuptials

CLEVELAND (AP)—Miss Elizabeth Russ, 71, who is tidying up her home in preparation for her wedding next week, came to Asst. Police Prosecutor Harry Auslander with a complaint.

Miss Russ said she wasn't bothered by her neighbor's five cats, three parakeets, goose and canary but her dander has been aroused by the five dogs, two hens and rooster.

The neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Stokes, put up a chicken coop next to her garage, and the chickens attract rats, Miss Russ complained.

The dogs, she said, are ruining her yard.

And the rooster crows at 4 a. m. which is earlier than Miss Russ likes to be awakened, she told Auslander.

Miss Russ was told to come back May 31, when Auslander says he hopes to have the Stokes present and hopes to be able to work out a solution.

Miss Russ plans to become the wife of Robert Thalau, 77, and she wants everything to be neat at their new home.

The Mayflower II, replica of the Pilgrims' ship, will be berthed all summer at 41st Street, New York City.

Braves Mound Staff Shows New Weakness

18 Pitchers Used In Last 5 Games; Starters Folding Up

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

What happened to Milwaukee's vaunted pitching staff?

Manager Fred Haney hasn't seen a starter go nine innings since May 12. In the last five games, he has used 18 pitchers.

Even the lowly Chicago Cubs roughed up the Braves over the weekend, taking three out of four, including a sweep of a Sunday double-header that dumped Milwaukee into third place.

The Braves have had only 10 complete games all season, the same as Cincinnati, which was supposed to have no pitching staff at all.

Dick Drott, 20-year-old rookie who wasn't even on the Cubs' roster in spring training, set a club record Sunday by striking out 15 Braves for a 7-5 decision in the first game, while Gene Conley failed Haney.

Juan Pizarro, a hot shot freshman, held the Cubs to four hits in eight innings of the second game but was knocked out in the ninth during a two-run rally that gave Chicago a 5-4 edge.

Cincinnati even got an eighth-inning home run from its pitcher, Hal Jeffcoat, in beating St. Louis 7-6. The Cardinals got a pair of homers from Stan Musial, including his eighth grand slam.

Brooklyn elbowed past Milwaukee to second place in the National League, two games behind the Redlegs. The Dodgers trimmed the New York Giants 5-3 as Duke Snider joined the 1,500-hit club with his seventh homer of the year, off Ruben Gomez.

When the Giants kicked up their heels in the late innings, Clem Labine had to help starter Sandy Koufax.

Pittsburgh spoiled plans to celebrate Curt Simmons' 100th major league victory when they chased the Phils' left-hander and went on to collect 20 hits for a 13-5 romp. Roberto Clement led the party with four hits and drove in five runs as Roy Face won his first of the year. Rookie Don Cardwell gave the Phils a split by taking the second 6-3.

Despite Billy Pierce's brilliant four-hit 1-0 decision over Cleveland in 10 innings, the Chicago White Sox had to settle for an even break with the Indians when Ray Narleski saved the nightcap with five shutout relief innings to earn a 4-3 triumph.

The Yankees barely escaped with a split against Washington. Both Yankee starters were knocked out in a four-run first inning. Although New York overcame a 6-0 deficit in the opener with the help of Mickey Mantle's ninth homer, the Senators came back to win it 9-7. Bud Byerly held the Yanks to three hits in a brilliant 7-1-3 inning relief stint.

Washington also blew a six-run lead in the second game and finally lost it in the ninth when pinch hitter Yogi Berra scored rookie Tony Kubek with a sacrifice fly for Bob Grim's fifth victory 7-6.

The Boston Red Sox moved into fourth place by thumping Baltimore twice 9-0 and 5-4. Ted Williams boosted his average to .411 with three hits in seven trips. Dick Stone and Ike Delock teamed up on the five-hit shutout, and Mickey Vernon's two-run homer in the eighth won the second.

Ned Garver continued his fine comeback with a three-hit, 3-1 win as Kansas City stretched its mastery over its "cousins" from Detroit to six straight. Gus Zernial broke a 1-1 tie with his ninth homer in the sixth inning.

Pittsburgh's first game romp wasn't all fun. Shortstop Dick Groat suffered a sprained ankle in the fourth inning and was carried off the field on a stretcher. Jim Hearn of the Phils also left the game due to an injury when he was struck on the pitching hand by Clement's hit.

Undefeated Athletics Trounce Zanesville, 8-4

The Washington C. H. Athletics today are still undefeated in their first year in the tough Heart of Ohio League after turning back, 8 to 4, the previously unbeaten Zanesville outfit at the park on Oakland Ave., here Sunday.

The Athletics lost no time in getting their victory drive started. They scored 2 runs in the first and 3 in the second to take a quick lead, which they held until the sixth, when the Zanesville boys staged a 4-run rally.

Bucky James started the Athletics off with a single. Coppock walked. Herb Russell moved them both along with a sacrifice. James scored the first run of the game on a sacrifice fly to deep center by Robinett. Hildreth scored Coppock with a single.

BUCKY DUMFORD opened the second inning with a home run. James came through with his second single and stole second. After Russell walked, Robinett scored James with a single and Bob Hildreth scored Russell with a single.

The Athletics stretched their lead to 5-0 with 3 runs in the fifth when Hildreth led off with a homer and Sharrett and Dumford, who had singled and doubled, scored on James' third consecutive hit.

Zanesville's rally in the sixth was throttled after 4 runs had scored and the visitors were held scoreless in the last three frames.

Zanesville started the sixth with two singles and a walk to fill the bases. Close's single scored Allen and Brooks, leaving runners on second and third, both of whom scored on a single by Holt.

Robinett then went to the mound from first base for Dumford and halted the outburst.

33 Starters Named for Big '500' Grind

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—A field of 28 Indianapolis Motor Speedway veterans and five newcomers seasoned on shorter tracks will start Thursday in the 41st 500-mile speedway auto race.

Two Novi V8s will face 31 cars powered with the old reliable Offenhauser engines.

The Novis, driven by old-timers Paul Russo and Tony Bettenhausen, demonstrated in the trials that they are the fastest cars in the field, but they've never won the race.

Bettenhausen, former national champion from Tinley Park, Ill., turned in the best trial performance Sunday with a 10-mile run at 142.439. Russo, of Canoga Park, Calif., set the best speed of the trials at 144.817 in another wind-beaten run Saturday.

Both Russo and Bettenhausen will be starting for the 11th time. Sam Hanks of Pacific Palisades, Calif., who made the lineup Saturday at a brisk 142.812, will be trying for the 12th time to win the top share of the $300,000 purse.

There were 43 runs in Sunday's six-hour session.

Among those who failed to make the lineup were Johnnie Parsons, Los Angeles, the 1950 winner; Rookie Jud Larson, Kansas City, who had the car in which Pat Flaherty of Chicago won last year's race; and Jimmy Davies, Pacoima, Calif., a four-time starter.

This year's field qualified at an average of 141.444 miles an hour, with the slowest 139.649. Last year's field averaged 142.507 but the slowest was 138.430.

Levee and Lebkuhen, the last two winners of the Selma Stakes at Laurel, are daughters of Hill Prince, horse of the year in 1950.

beat Lancaster, 4 to 3; Grove City kept its slate clean with a 13 to 0 shutout of Lockbourne Air Force Base, and Reynoldsburg (Woods Plumbers) defeated Columbus (Picard Paints), 9 to 6.

The standing after the first three weeks of play is:

WASHINGTON C. H.	W	L
Grove City	3	0
Zanesville	3	0
Reynoldsburg	2	1
Chillicothe	2	1
Lancaster	1	2
Lockbourne	0	3
Columbus	0	3

Next Sunday's games — Washington C. H. at Grove City; Chillicothe at Zanesville; Lancaster at Columbus and Lockbourne at Reynoldsburg.

The Athletics will play an exhibition game Memorial Day at the Oakland Ave. park with a team from Piqua. Game time is 2:30 p. m.

Hal Jeffcoat's Hitting also Helps Redlegs

CINCINNATI (AP)—Burly right-hander Hal Jeffcoat, looms large in the pitching plans of Cincinnati's Redlegs this year, but his hitting talents may have been overlooked.

The converted outfielder lifted a homer out of Crosley Field in the eighth inning Sunday giving the Reds a 7-6 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals, victors in the two previous games.

And the victory enabled the National League-leading Reds to get a two-game jump on the second place Milwaukee Braves, whipped Tuesday by Chicago.

Jeffcoat, who throws a natural slider but has a below-par curve, ran into trouble in the eighth when a four-run Redleg leg evaporated.

But the blame was not all Jeffcoat's. The Cards loaded the bases this way:

Gus Bell lost Del Ennis' smash in the sun and it went for a double.

Johnny Temple bobbled a grounder by Don Blasingame, and Jeffcoat, a little rattled, hit Alvin Dark with a pitched ball.

Then Stan Musial stepped up and whacked his second homer of the game.

Up to the difficult eighth, Jeffcoat held good control over the Cardinals, although St. Louis had grabbed a brief 2-0 lead.

A double and a single gave the Cards a 1-0 jump in the second inning and Musial made it 2-0 with his homer in the third.

But the Reds started to reach St. Louis starter Murray Dickson in the third, capitalizing on a walk, two singles and George Crowe's cleanup homer.

Doubles by Roy McMillan and Johnny Temple produced another run in the fourth. The Reds punched out one run each in the sixth and seventh innings.

Big 10 Winds Up Spring Sport Test

CHICAGO (AP)—Indiana breezed to the track championship, Michigan easily won its third straight tennis crown and Wisconsin took golf honors to climax Big Ten spring sports Saturday.

Indiana swept four firsts and scored in 12 of 14 events to amass 54 points in winning its first conference track title since 1950 at Evanston, Ill.

Wisconsin, with an aggregate of 1512 strokes, won the team golf title at Iowa City. Iowa was second in the 72-hole tourney.

Michigan rolled up 78 points in tennis to second-place Northwestern's 44.

Reformatory 9 Blasts R & S At Chillicothe

Fighting hard for six innings, the local R&S baseball team bowed to the Chillicothe Reformatory squad, 13-3 in a hard-fought Southwestern League game at Chillicothe Sunday.

The R&S nine held the home team to a 2-2 tie until the bottom of the seventh, when Washington pitching cracked and the reformatory came across with seven runs.

Four more in the eighth, matched against only one more for the visitors, brought home the bacon for Chillicothe.

THE HOME TEAM outthit the visitors 9-7. Pitching wildness and some field trouble on the part of R&S helped the Reformatory's cause.

It was the third straight defeat for the Washington C. H. squad.

Bethea, Andrews Pitted in Bout

NEW YORK (AP)—A heavyweight match between Wayne Bethea of New York and Paul Andrews of Buffalo, N. Y., is scheduled tonight at St. Nicholas Arena.

Bethea, 24, is a rugged citizen who owns a 15-6-2 lifetime record and never has been stopped. Andrews, 27, is a knockout puncher whose 32-7 record shows him to be inconsistent. He has flattened 18 opponents and has been stopped three times.

Only Zora Folley has beaten Bethea in three 1957 starts. Andrews, inactive last year, has stopped Warren Lester and outpointed Ernie Cab in two Miami Beach starts on his comeback.

Northwestern Grabs Big 10 Baseball Title

CHICAGO (AP)—Northwestern has won its first Big Ten baseball pennant in history.

The Wildcats never had won the title outright, but shared it with Illinois in 1940. They qualified to meet Western Michigan 11-3 at Kalamazoo Tuesday in the opening of the double elimination NCAA district No. 4 playoffs.

Notre Dame (11-6) and Alma College of Michigan (15-8) are the other two teams in the playoff to decide representation in the NCAA college world series at Omaha, June 8-13.

Golf's 19th Hole

Golfers have been having their aggravations lately at the Country Club—mostly with the weather. First it was rain and then came the wind.

But, they refused to be discouraged and, despite nature's handicaps, they have been turning in some good scores.

The first best-ball tournament of the season will be held next Sunday, Tony Capuana, the club pro, has announced. Already 25 have signed up and more are expected before they tee off at 12:30 p. m.

Incidentally, the pro is right in form. Last week, he turned in a two-under-par 34.

Probably the most excited golfer of the week was Howard (Skeet) Mann. He turned in a one-over-par 37 for his best ever score. He has been playing golf only three years.

Hosts for next Wednesday night's men's supper are Troy T. Junk, William Junk, Lowell Miller, Willis Chrisman, Eli Craig, Richard Willis Jr. and Eugene McClain.

THIS AND THAT from the pro's notebook:

Ralph Bray had a 57 for his best of the season.

Mrs. Ed Vollette and Mrs. Elmer Reed got their first-ever par on No. 7.

Mrs. Marvin Roszmann had a 58 for her best of the season. John Petty, who always had trouble slicing, was hooking when he played his first round of the season.

Lowell Wilkins got his first birdie in five years when he negotiated the No. 8 hole in two.

Bob Frizzell had a 44 for his best of the season.

Roger Grim got a birdie the hard way when he hooked his tee shot for No. 5, leaving his ball from the cup. He dubbed his shot with a No. 9 iron but the ball rolled through the trap and on into the cup for a duce.

Harold (Babe) Maddux, who has not played for three years, has been out looking over his clubs. Ronnie Cornwell, one of the club's top golfers, turned in an eagle 3 on the No. 4 hole.

Roger McLean got a 39 for his best of the season and Bill Himmel-spach, another of the club's real good golfers, turned in a par on every hole for a perfect 36.

Bill Stoughton got his first birdie of the No. 7. He finished the round with a 47 total.

Ed Vollette golfed at Piqua over the weekend.

The prize shot of the season to date was made by Mrs. Charles Griffiths when she hit her ball into a tree, it rolled up the trunk and never came down.

Regular stock races will be held on Friday.

New Yorker Cops Purse In Petersen Pin Test

CHICAGO (AP)—A 1,668 series by Greg Griffo of Slovan, N.Y., withstood the efforts of 8,447 other bowlers and he won the $15,000 top prize in the Petersen Classic.

The marathon ended Sunday night when the 264th squad of 32 men was the last to go to the firing line since the Jan. 5 opening. Griffo, a 47-year-old factory worker with a 207 lifetime average, took his turn on March 17, and banded out games of 214, 188, 183, 253, 179, 203, 191 and 257.

Braves Mound Staff Shows New Weakness

18 Pitchers Used In Last 5 Games; Starters Folding Up

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

What happened to Milwaukee's vaunted pitching staff?

Manager Fred Haney hasn't seen a starter go nine innings since May 12. In the last five games, he has used 18 pitchers.

Even the lowly Chicago Cubs roughed up the Braves over the weekend, taking three out of four, including a sweep of a Sunday double-header that dumped Milwaukee into third place.

The Braves have had only 10 complete games all season, the same as Cincinnati, which was supposed to have no pitching staff at all.

Dick Drott, 20-year-old rookie who wasn't even on the Cubs' roster in spring training, set a club record Sunday by striking out 15 Braves for a 7-5 decision in the first game, while Gene Conley failed Haney.

Juan Pizarro, a hot shot freshman, held the Cubs to four hits in eight innings of the second game but was knocked out in the ninth during a two-run rally that gave Chicago a 5-4 edge.

Cincinnati even got an eighth-inning home run from its pitcher, Hal Jeffcoat, in beating St. Louis 7-6. The Cardinals got a pair of homers from Stan Musial, including his eighth grand slam.

Brooklyn elbowed past Milwaukee into second place in the National League, two games behind the Redlegs. In other action Sunday in the South Western Ohio loop, Chillicothe bowed to the league-leading Chillicothe Businessmen, 5-4, while Bloomington trampled Blanchester, 15-1. The Columbus All-Stars dropped Greenfield, 15-0.

Here are the standings:

W L
Chillicothe Bus. 3 0
Columbus All-Stars .. 3 0
Bloomington .. 2 1
Chillicothe Ref. 1 1
Greenfield .. 1 1
Milledgeville .. 1 2
Washington C. H. 0 3
Blanchester .. 0 3

But the blame was not all Jeffcoat's. The Cards loaded the bases this way:

Gus Bell lost Del Ennis' smash in the sun and it went for a double.

Johnny Temple bobbled a grounder by Don Blasingame, and Jeffcoat, a little rattled, hit Alvin Dark with a pitched ball.

Then Stan Musial stepped up and whacked his second homer of the game.

Up to the difficult eighth, Jeffcoat held good control over the Cardinals, although St. Louis had grabbed a brief 2-0 lead.

A double and a single gave the Cards a 1-0 jump in the second inning and Musial made it 2-0 with his homer in the third.

But the Reds started to reach St. Louis starter Murray Dickson in the third, capitalizing on a walk, two singles and George Crowe's cleanup homer.

Doubles by Roy McMillan and Johnny Temple produced another run in the fourth. The Reds punched out one run each in the sixth and seventh innings.

Big 10 Winds Up Spring Sport Test

CHICAGO (AP)—Indiana breezed to the track championship, Michigan easily won its third straight tennis crown and Wisconsin took golf honors to climax Big Ten spring sports Saturday.

Indiana swept four firsts and scored in 12 of 14 events to amass 54 points in winning its first conference track title since 1950 at Evanston, Ill.

Wisconsin, with an aggregate of 1512 strokes, won the team golf title at Iowa City. Iowa was second in the 72-hole tourney.

Michigan rolled up 78 points in tennis to second-place Northwestern's 44.

Golf's 19th Hole

Golfers have been having their aggravations lately at the Country Club—mostly with the weather. First it was rain and then came the wind.

But, they refused to be discouraged and, despite nature's handicaps, they have been turning in some good scores.

The first best-ball tournament of the season will be held next Sunday, Tony Capana, the club pro, has announced. Already 25 have signed up and more are expected before they tee off at 12:30 p. m.

Incidentally, the pro is right in form. Last week, he turned in a two-under-par 34.

Probably the most excited golfer of the week was Howard (Skeet) Mann. He turned in a one-over-par 37 for his best ever score. He has been playing golf only three years.

Hosts for next Wednesday night's men's supper are Troy T. Junk, William Junk, Lowell Miller, Willis Chrisman, Eli Craig, Richard Willis Jr. and Eugene McClain.

THIS AND THAT from the pro's notebook:
Ralph Bray had a 57 for his best of the season.

Mrs. Ed Vollette and Mrs. Elmer Reed got their first-ever par on No. 7.

Mrs. Marvin Roszmans had a 58 for her best of the season.

John Petty, who always had trouble slicing, was hooking when he played his first round of the season.

Lowell Wilkins got his first birdie in five years when he negotiated the No. 8 hole in two.

Bob Frizzell had a 44 for his best of the season.

Roger Grim got a birdie the hard way when he hooked his tee shot for No. 5, leaving his ball from the cup. He dubbed his shot with a No. 9 iron but the ball rolled through the trap and on into the cup for a duc.

Harold (Babe) Maddux, who has not played for three years, has been out looking over his clubs.

Ronnie Cornwell, one of the club's top golfers, turned in an eagle 3 on the No. 4 hole.

$2 Bet Returns $52,795 in Pool

AQUA CALIENTE, Mexico on Los Angeles men, a grocer and a foundry worker, hazarded $2 in the 5-10 horse racing pool Sunday and won $52,795.80, a record payoff.

Manuel Guana, the grocer, and Porfirio Soto, the foundry worker, picked five of six winners on the single ticket in the fifth through tenth races. Nine other ticket holders, who picked four winners, shared the remainder of the $78,216 pool.

WHS Baseball Team Loses to Circleville

The WHS Blue Lions lost to Circleville, 5-2, in a baseball game at Babe Ruth Field Saturday.

Billy Herman pitched the whole game for the Lions and his defeat was the result of several Lion miscues. Lynch, Herman, Welch, and Knisley garnered safeties for the Lions. All Circleville runs were earned.

FORD

is America's BIGGEST buy!

The fastest selling pace in the country... the biggest sales success in Ford history... make it possible for us to give you the best deal of the season on the new kind of Ford

Right now you can buy a fine Ford for hundreds of dollars less than the cheapest models of the medium-priced cars... and still get every bit as much car.

So come on in! You'll find there's a car and a plan for you, custom-made to fit your budget. Backed up by the biggest volume in the country, we're dealing and trading higher than ever on '57's most successful car — the new kind of Ford.

And what a car you get! There's a whole new "Inner Ford" to give you a true big-car ride. You get a new frame, new easier-riding front and rear suspensions, a more rigid body and new insulation, that soaks up sound, seals out the weather.

You can have power to suit your needs from Ford's new family of mightier V-8 engines. Or you may choose the new Mileage Maker Six — the most powerful "six" on the market. And outside, you get Ford's years-ahead sculptured look. All in all, it's America's worth-more car... not only when you buy, but when you're set to sell.

Smoked Virginia Ham On Menu - Almost

RUSTBURG, Va. (AP)—The firemen were almost out of control with hunger, but they saved 50 hams. The fire started when a raft broke in P. W. Merryman's smokehouse. Some of the 150 hams plunged into the fire over which they were being smoked. The aroma was delicious but the fat was in the fire and it blazed. The 50 hams saved were in an adjoining smokehouse and were the property of Ed Evans, Rustburg's high school basketball coach.

Mayflower II Reports Her Progress at Sea

LONDON (AP)—A radio message from the Mayflower II says the little sailing ship duplicating the voyage of the Pilgrim fathers is now "some 1,800 miles from Nantucket lightship." Skipper Alan Villiers' message said Saturday: "Ship 34 days out today, sailed just 3,400 miles."

Fr. Connelly Delivers Legion Memorial Sermon

"Each year on Memorial Day we wend our way to the graves of our fallen heroes, there to pick and pull away the moss of forgetfulness and neglect and to chisel beyond all memory of those who died," a congregation that included more than 50 members of the American Legion was told by the Rev. Father Richard J. Connelly, at the special Memorial Day Mass at 11 a. m. Sunday in St. Colman's Catholic Church.

This was the annual Memorial Day service sponsored by the Paul H. Hughey post of the Legion. It is held each year in a different church in Washington, C. H.

The Legionnaires gathered at Legion Hall, 212 N. Fayette St., at 10:30 a. m. and marched the four blocks to the church together.

FATHER CONNELLY, twice chaplain of the Ohio department of the American Legion and once of the Forty and Eight, complimented the Legionnaires and their organization. He pointed out that membership in the Legion is restricted to men and women who have served their country in time of war.

He emphasized that "rich men cannot buy their way into it and men of influence are not accepted if they are not eligible."

Father Connelly used the theme, "Sleep Well, Soldier, for You Are Not Forgotten" for his sermon.

IN DEVELOPING this theme, he said:

"Today we trim their tombs with garlands of gratitude—we march in memory of the men who will march no more."

"Is Memorial Day just another holiday in your calendar of thoughtless days?"

"We honor our departed dead, the real heroes of our wars."

"Once their crumbling bones were encased in a strong, healthy body. When hope was highest, life was richest, love warmest, these brave men and women heard the call to their country. Many came back. Others did not. All honor is due them."

The American Legion recognizes all colors and all religions. Each has an equal right to live and we never question his race or creed when we fight an enemy who would attempt to deprive us of our American way of life.

"The American G. I. and doughboy left his home and fireside in a fight to end all wars. He didn't hate his enemy but he did hate and despise the principles in which the enemy believed."

"These heroes have died for their country; we are asked to live for it. Let us stand united beneath the great American flag, and those comrades whose memory we honor today shall not have died in vain."

"As taps echoes and re-echoes its plaintive melody we pray, Sleep well, soldier, for you are not forgotten."

Graham Sees Vast 'Wrong' in Homes

NEW YORK (AP)—Evangelist Billy Graham says "there is something desperately and tragically wrong with the American home today."

He attributes this to married couples' "breaking and forgetting" laws governing marriage as stated in the Bible.

Rev. Mr. Graham spoke on "Problems of the American Home" before another capacity crowd of 18,500 at Madison Square Garden Sunday night.

The crowd brought to 208,200 the number of people who have heard him since the Graham crusade opened here May 15.

Rev. Mr. Graham's staff reported 547 "decisions for Christ" Sunday, bringing the total for the crusade to date to 7,931.

included: Howard Kingdon, past Ohio Legion commander from Cincinnati who is a candidate for national commander; National Committeeman James Wagoner of Lancaster; First Vice Commander Merle Brady of Van Wert; Ohio Commander Fred Thacker of Marion and William Stoughton, 7th district commander.

The music for the High Mass was by the St. Colman choir under the leadership of Miss Margaret McDonald.

Deaths, Funerals

Mrs. Harry Wilson

Mrs. Harry (Katherine Long) Wilson, 56, of Marion, died at Marion City Hospital about midnight Sunday. In failing health for some time, she was seriously ill about two weeks.

Born in Marion, Mrs. Wilson spent many of her early years in and around Washington, C. H. She attended Washington C. H. schools for several years.

Survivors include her husband; her mother, Mrs. G. H. Long of Marion; a daughter, Mrs. Mervin Stansbury of Marion; two sons, Kenneth and Donald Wilson of Marion; four grandchildren; a sister, Mrs. Raymond Stansbury of Upper Sandusky; and four brothers, D. Vaiden and Ted Long of Washington, C. H., Arnold of Columbus and Gideon of Marion.

Funeral arrangements are incomplete.

FRED MARCHANT — Services for Fred Marchant, 50, of 1234 S. Main St., who died Thursday, were held at 2:30 p. m. Saturday in the Gerstner Funeral Home with the Rev. L. J. Poe, pastor of Grace Methodist Church, officiating. Burial was in Milledgeville-Plymouth Cemetery.

Paul Souther and Norman Boop, representing Paul H. Hughey Post, American Legion, folded the flag and presented it to Mr. Marchant's daughter, Mrs. Norma Taylor of Jamestown. Pallbearers were Clarence Cooper, Ralph Marchant, Noel Morris, Earl Richards, Homer Miller and Edgar Richardson.

Mental Clinic Aide Held for Beating Man

CINCINNATI (AP)—Police plan more questioning today for a 35-year-old Longview Mental Hospital attendant in the beating of a patient.

No charge was immediately filed against Harold E. Dunn, the attendant, who police say admitted hitting the patient "three or four times."

The victim, Andrew Shannon, 77, of nearby Camp Washington, was in critical condition with head and chest injuries. He has been a patient at the hospital since last August.

Investigators said Shannon was injured early last Thursday after Dunn and another attendant, Harold Brock, 24, had shackled Shannon to his ward bed to prevent him falling out again.

State patrolman Roy Cason quoted Brock with this account: Shannon had been "upset" and had been shouting extensively before the attendants discovered he had fallen out of bed.

Shannon continued shouting after being returned to bed. Early Thursday morning Dunn returned to the ward and "struck the old man three or four times."

Dunn has been an attendant at Longview for the last year.

Kewanee Well Depth Reaches 2,216 Feet

After reaching a depth of 2,110 feet by 8 a. m. Sunday, the drill in the Kewanee No. 1 well near here was sent down another 106 feet by 8 a. m. Monday, for a total depth of 2,216 feet.

A large number of persons visited the scene of operations Sunday, but they parked along the road instead of driving into the muddy field adjacent to the drilling outfit.

After the drill passed the 2,000 foot mark it was exploring new depths for Fayette County, and grinding steadily into formations of which little is known.

Because of the hardness of the stone through which the drill has been passing, it has been necessary to change bits often.

With each change of bits the entire drilling shaft is pulled from the well, uncoupled into 85-foot sections which are stacked upright against the derrick and then recoupled and lowered into the well.

Workmen usually change drills in about 90 minutes.

2 Fraternities Suspended at Bowling Green

BOWLING GREEN (AP)—Two chapters of fraternities at Bowling Green State University have been suspended, officials at the school announced today.

A feud between fraternities and the university administration over liquor regulations was blamed for a riot by an estimated 1,500 students on the campus early Friday.

Delta Tau Delta's national office at Indianapolis suspended its chapter here for "holding an unauthorized party off campus two weeks ago at which there was drinking."

The university formally withdrew recognition of the Sigma Chi chapter for "failure to enforce liquor regulations at its recent dance" in Findlay.

Fraternity members here said they interpreted the school's liquor ban as applying only to campus social functions. The interfraternity council last week condemned the university's action "in the Sigma Chi case."

In the Friday riot, students burned straw, threatened to invade the Delta Gamma sorority house, turned fire hoses on firemen, stormed the county jail, and burned an effigy of Dr. Ralph McDonald, university president.

The university acted swiftly to punish the students. Two were arrested and six expelled.

Rubber Ship Scuttled

RANGOON (AP)—Reports reaching here today said home guard units took 400 bales of rubber from a schooner in south Burma, scuttled the ship and killed 17 of the 20 passengers and crewmen.

Gun, Relic Exhibit Attracts Big Crowd

The largest in a series of meetings held here by the Central Ohio Gun and Indian Relic Collector's Assn., was the two-day session at the Merchants Building on the Fayette County Fairgrounds, Saturday and Sunday.

Dealers from seven states attended, and exhibition space was so much in demand that some exhibitors spread their goods on the grass outside of the building.

Both Saturday and Sunday were record days in the number of exhibitors, exhibits, and attendance, and at one time Sunday afternoon 252 automobiles were parked about the big building.

One gun, a $50 Colt's .32 calibre, was stolen during the day, and a report was made to law enforcement officers. Three guns stolen at the previous meeting were recovered and the thieves arrested.

During the meeting here 24 new members were added to the association which now has an enrollment of nearly 500.

The next meeting here will be July 13 and 14, at the Merchants Building.

Ohio Utility Opposes Wholesale Gas Boost

COLUMBUS (AP)—The Ohio Fuel Gas Co. asked the Federal Power Commission today to investigate the request of Texas Eastern Transmission Corp. for a wholesale rate increase.

Ohio Fuel, a customer of Texas Eastern, claims the proposed increase would cost the Ohio company about $1,400,000 a year.

North Shore Area Problems Outlined to Commissioners

Herbert Clickner and James Baughn, representing the Union Township Board of Trustees met with the Fayette County Board of Commissioners at their Monday morning session relative to flood water conditions and needed sewer improvements in the North Shore residential area, just beyond the north city limits in Union Township.

It was reported by the trustees that conditions arising in connection with flooded basements, overflowing ditches and allegedly bad sanitary conditions have created a serious problem in that section.

The trustees sought to determine whether there is any help available from the county toward a plan and finances to remedy the situation where which they say has been growing worse with the passing of time.

THERE HAS been talk, it was reported, of determining the advisability of setting up that part of the North Shore area into a special sanitary district.

THE COMMISSIONERS stated they will immediately inquire as to how far their authority covers the situation and promised that an effort will be made at a future meeting with the trustees to agree upon what action can be taken.

The commissioners also approved minutes which showed their passage of a resolution to comply with a request from the Wilson Sisters 4-H club that "Narrow Bridge" safety signs be placed at a bridge near the Rowe-Ging Rd., also at another bridge near the Frank Dill farm, both on the Creek Rd., in Union Twp.

A resolution passed by the commissioners instructed the county engineer to place the signs as requested at once.

Aside from routine transactions and approval of bills no other action was taken at this meeting.
